Herbert Beltz, Red Cross representative from St. Louis, has established headquarters at Baudette and the campaign for funds to aid the 350 victims has been started. Beltz visited here and at Malcom yesterday, planning programs in both places.

Eighteen boxes of clothing supplies by the Pennington county Red Cross have been distributed in this locality.

PROSECUTOR SAYS PERMIT WAS ONCE DENIED FOSHAY

ATTORNEYS ARGUE OVER ADMISIBILITY OF CORRESPONDENCE AS EVIDENCE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Although the Arizona Corporation commission forbade the Public Utilities Consolidated Corporation, A. W. B. Foshay Co., subsidiary, from issuing securities on an uncompleted contract with the parent firm, the P. U. C. issued the securities, Fred Horowitz, special assistant attorney general charged today in the trial of W. B. Foshay and six associates.

Minneapolis, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—The prosecution today attempted to show exactly how W. B. Foshay and his six associates were a web of alleged intrigue and deception that caught thousands of investors in the collapse of their $30,000,000 public utilities concerns.

Fred Horowitz, special government prosecutor, told Federal Judge Joseph W. Moynihan that the state securities commission of Minnesota at one time refused to issue a permit for the sale of public utilities consolidated corporation stock and that the company was organized in Arizona to overcome this difficulty. The seven defendants are on trial for charges of using the mails to defraud.

The statement was made after the jury has been dismissed and the defense attorneys and Horowitz were arguing about the admissibility of certain correspondence between Philadelphia brokers and the Foshay Company officials.

Horowitz alleged that evidence would be presented showing that the Arizona incorporation was for "the purpose of carrying out their scheme to defraud" and not to afford safety to investors as contended by the defense attorneys.

He said that the government will call the commissioners of the securities group of Arizona to show "that Foshay officials made misrepresentations as to the purposes of incorporation in Arizona." When the P. U. C. was incorporated in Arizona the permission of the Minnesota securities commission was not necessary to sell stock in this state, Horowitz said.

To Talk Plans for St. Lawrence Seaway

Washington, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Hanford MacNider, American minister to Canada, said a commission will be appointed to negotiate with Canada on plans for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway after a conference today with President Hoover.

MacNider said he discussed the waterway project with the president only in a general way and that there had been no new developments.

Charges had been made that President Hoover did not wish appointment of a commission because one representative from New York state would have to be included. That state stands solidly for public ownership of the power development in connection with the seaway.

Loan Ass'n Secretary Held for Shortage

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Lindsay S. Smith, assistant secretary of the Hennepin Savings and Loan Association, Minneapolis, was arrested today, as state bank examiners discovered a "substantial shortage" in his accounts.

Estimates of the shortage ran as high as $75,000, but J. N. Peyton, state banking commissioner, refused to make any estimate of the shortage until completion of an audit now underway.

By resolution of the board of directors, the institution was placed under the direction of the state banking department. Smith is bonded for $25,000, it was said.

DESIGN PROGRAM FOR STABILIZATION OF UNIT OF VALUE

FARM LEADERS ALSO BELIEVE RELEASE OF GOLD AND SILVER WOULD AID

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—National farm leaders believe that permanent stabilization of currency offers the most effective remedy for international economic ills, and many of them believe that release of gold or silver, in proportion to population, will relieve depressed business conditions.

This was learned today when Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, announced that a conference of agricultural leaders, economists, editors and financiers would be held here tomorrow to study the situation.

O'Neal said it was planned to "consider the basis upon which market prices are fixed" and to seek definite recommendations for stabilizing the unit of value. It was indicated that farm leaders hope to draft recommendations that may be presented to congress next winter calling for action in the stabilization movement.

The conference represents an attempt by the farmers to battle the depression "from a new angle," O'Neal said.

"The importance of stabilizing our unit of value, as we have our measures and weight dimensions, so that fluctuations, creating hardship in every instance, may be avoided is considered of paramount importance by the leadership of the farm bureau organization," O'Neal said.

It was indicated that farm leaders had various suggestions to offer in the present crisis. Some favor a release of gold or silver. Others believe it will be necessary to increase the volume of currency in proportion to the available volume of commodities in world trade.

"The thing that caused the relief from depression in the nineties was the discovery of gold in Alaska," Ralph Snyder, president of the Kansas farm bureau and chairman of tomorrow's conference said. "Until our international medium is increased, farm products and world depression cannot materially improve."

REPORT GOVERNOR SEEKING MAN TO REPLACE BABCOCK

CHIEF EXECUTIVE SAID TO BE DESIROUS OF A CHANGE IN HIGHWAY HEAD

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Governor Floyd B. Olson was reported today to be seeking a successor to C. M. Babcock as state high commissioner.

When questioned today by newspapermen, the governor said that Richard Wiggins, assistant Minneapolis city attorney, was not being considered as a possible candidate.

"If N. W. Elsborg, Minneapolis city engineer, would take the job, he could have it in a minute," Olson was quoted as saying.

The governor was reported satisfied with Babcock's work but desired a change if a man of Elsborg's engineering ability and experience could be found. Elsborg, it was said, feels secure under the Minneapolis civil service and would not take the political appointment.

MISSING GIRL SEARCH SHIFTS TO CITY AFTER TRUCKDRIVER RETURN SKATES TO PARENTS SHE USED TO FLEE BRAINERD

Alice Edwards, 14-year-old Brainerd girl, was somewhere in Minneapolis today but the roller skates she used to "speed" away from Brainerd on State Trunk Highway 27 paving and escape from school differences were returned to her home, 1402 South Broadway.

truck driver, whose name was not learned by his inquisitors, told an interesting story that stopped a county-wide search for the missing girl and shifted the scenes abruptly to Minneapolis.

This is the truck driver's story as told by Chief of Police Thomas Templeton:

"The driver was traveling south about noon Monday on Highway 27 a few miles north of Little Falls when he saw a girl roller skating wearily along the paving. He stopped the truck and inquired where she hoped to reach via roller skates. The girl told him she wanted to go to Minneapolis and visit friends. The driver, enroute to Minneapolis, then gave her a lift to the city and she requested to be let out on Washington Avenue. At her destination the girl asked that her roller skates be left with her parents at Brainerd and gave him her address. The truck driver returned to Brainerd today and brought the skates with him."

Alice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edwards, are inquiring of friends in Minneapolis if Alice is visiting them. If she is not located Minneapolis police will be asked to find her.

POTATO GROWERS ELSEWHERE URGED TO JOIN PRICE PACT

HOLD CROP UNTIL BETTER PRICES PREVAIL IS PLEA OF MINNESOTA GROWERS

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Potato growers of the Red River valley in Minnesota today started a statewide movement to hold their crop from the market until better prices prevail.

Resolutions were forwarded today to other potato growing centers in the state and to protect growers in North Dakota urging them to join the movement. The resolutions were passed unanimously Tuesday by a meeting of 500 growers of Moorhead and Hawley, R. F. Hall, state director of markets, was the principal speaker.

His resolution states: "By reason of their prevailing prices of potatoes being less than the cost of production, we deem it injurious to the interests of potato growers to sell potatoes at present prices. We therefore pledge ourselves not to sell or market potatoes until such time as prices reach an amount that will return the cost of production."

Speakers pointed out that much more stock already had been shipped to market, with the result that growers did not receive enough to pay for digging and sacks.

Growers and dealers were urged by Hall to market only No. 1 grade stock in order to bring back the prestige formerly enjoyed by Minnesota as a potato growing center. Poorer grades of potatoes should be fed to livestock, Hall said.

A committee to contract other groups of potato growers was appointed.

Lutheran Heads are Bishops, Speaker Avers

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—The heads of Lutheran church bodies should be referred to as bishops rather than as presidents, Dr. Easmus Malm, associate editor of the Lutheran Herald, Minneapolis, suggested today in an address at the opening session of the annual convention of the National Lutheran Editors Association.

The title, however, Dr. Malm said, should be used only as one of respect outside the organization.

BOARD ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF HARDSHIPS

AFFECTING ALL MEN, PAY CUTS ORDERED AS PART OF ECONOMY PROGRAM

London, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, first lord of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today that the government had authorized the admiralty board to make proposals for alleviation of hardships entailed in the navy pay reductions, after an investigation.

Sir Austen said the government had authorized the admiralty board to investigate the extent of the hardships that the pay cuts would work on the men, and make proposals for alleviating them.

Labor members met the announcement with cheers and taunts of weakness against the government. The pay cuts, affecting all officers and men of the navy, had been ordered as part of the general economy program.

Chamberlain announced the ships comprising the Atlantic fleet had been ordered to proceed to their home ports immediately.

London, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—A passive strike of enlisted men protesting wage reduction was in effect on every ship of Great Britain's great Atlantic fleet today.

Officers and marines were doing the work necessary aboard the fleet, anchored off Invergordon, Scotland. The situation was unparalleled in British naval history. The naval ratings, enlisted men, all refused to work with the exception of the cooks.

No disorders had been reported aboard the battleships today, although there were unprecedented demonstrations ashore and on the ships over the week end.

According to marine who came ashore at Invergordon today, the refusal of seamen to work followed a prearranged plan. Enlisted men of the Rodney and the Valiant first refused to work when they were called to duty at 6 a. m. Tuesday and started cheering as a signal to men aboard the other ships.

At 8 o'clock, when the white ensign was raised in the usual manner and the band played "God Save the King," the ratings of the other vessels of the fleet gave three cheers for King George and then refused to go to work.

Rear Admiral R. M. Colbin, chief of staff of the Atlantic fleet, echoed London from Invergordon today and went immediately to the admiralty to report on the situation.

HOLD HOPE THAT FLIERS LANDED CANADIAN COAST

ATTEMPTING TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT, AVIATORS ARE NOW LONG OVERDUE

New York, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—A week-end seaplane, picked up in the North Sea today by a British steam trawler, was that of Parker Cramer, American aviator experimenting for a possible air route between the United States and Europe, the Edo Aircraft Corporation said today.

New York, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—Fears that Willy Rody, Christian Johansen and Fernando Costa Viera were cheated of success on their trans-Atlantic flight almost within sight of land were expressed today as hour after hour passed without any trace of the Junkers monoplane Eas.

The two German pilots, and their Portuguese companion, bound for New York from Lisbon, Portugal, had a gas supply sufficient only for 48 hours. It could not have lasted longer than 6 a. m. yesterday.

Experienced airmen here were unwilling to admit the names of the three men—one a pilot who was making a brief bid for fame in a plane in which he had spent his inheritance, another an experienced German war pilot, and the third a youthful Portuguese adventure seeker—should be added yet to the eleven listed as lost in attempting the perilous westward crossing.

Search was renewed today for the fliers despite the fact that weather conditions were not good along the Canadian coast.

They expressed the belief that the sea—only 80 miles from Cape Race at 2:40 p. m. Monday when it was sighted by the Steamer Penland—might have landed in some section of the desolate country between Newfoundland and the New England coast where communication facilities were lacking.

Copenhagen, Sept. 16.—(U.P.)—The polar submarine, Nautilus, was enroute southward today after storms forced it to halt on the Norwegian coast between Tromsø and Bergen.

PROSECUTOR SAYS PERMIT WAS ONCE DENIED FOSHAY

ATTORNEYS ARGUE OVER ADMISSIBILITY OF CORRESPONDENCE AS EVIDENCE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16—(UP)—Although the Arizona corporation commission forbade the Public Utilities Consolidated Corporation, A. W. B. Foshay Co., subsidiary, from issuing securities on an uncompleted contract with the parent firm; the P. U. C. C. issued the securities, Fred Horowitz, special assistant attorney general charged today in the trial of W. B. Foshay and six associates.

Minneapolis, Sept. 16—(UP)—The prosecution today attempted to show exactly how W. B. Foshay and his associates wove a web of alleged intrigue and deception that caught thousands of investors in the collapse of their $30,000,000 public utilities concerns.

Fred Horowitz, special government prosecutor, told Federal Judge Joseph W. Molyneux that the state securities commission of Minnesota at one time refused to issue a permit for the sale of public utilities consolidated corporation stock and that the company was organized in Arizona to overcome this difficulty. The seven defendants are on trial for charges of using the mails to defraud.

He said that the government will call the commissioners of the securities group of Arizona to show "that Foshay officials made misrepresentations as to the purposes of incorporation in Arizona." "The driver was traveling south about noon Monday on Highway 27 a few miles north of Little Falls when he saw a girl roller skating wearily along the paving. He stopped the truck and inquired where she hoped to reach via roller skates. The girl told him she wanted to go to Minneapolis and visit friends. The driver, enroute to Minneapolis, then gave her a lift to the city and she requested to be let out on Washington Avenue. At her destination the girl asked that her roller skates be left with her parents at Brainerd and gave him her address. The truck driver returned to Brainerd today and brought the skates with him."

Alice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edwards, are inquiring of friends in Minneapolis if Alice is visiting them. If she is not located Minneapolis police will be asked to find her.

Accused Pastor

Denying charges against his character brought by Miss Carrie A. Williams, his former secretary, the Rev. Dr. William A. Shelton (above), pastor of the Mount Vernon Methodist Church of Washington, D. POTATO GROWERS ELSEWHERE URGED TO JOIN PRICE PACT

HOLD CROP UNTIL BETTER PRICES PREVAIL IS PLEA OF MINNESOTA GROWERS

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 16—(UP)—Potato growers of the Red River valley in Minnesota today started a statewide movement to hold their crop from the market until better prices prevail.

Resolutions were forwarded today to other potato growing centers in the state and to protect growers in North Dakota urging them to join the movement. The resolutions were passed unanimously Tuesday by a meeting of 500 growers of Moorhead and Hawley, R. F. Hall, state director of markets, was the principal speaker.

Ther resolution states: "By reason of the prevailing prices of potatoes being less than the cost of production, we deem it injurious to the interests of potato growers to sell potatoes at present prices. We therefore pledge ourselves not to sell or market potatoes until such time as prices reach an amount that will return the cost of production."

Speakers pointed out that much immature stock already had been shipped to market, with the result that growers did not receive enough to pay for digging and sacks.

Growers and dealers were urged by Hall to market only No. 1 grade stock in order to bring back the prestige formerly enjoyed by Minnesota as a potato growing center. Poorer grades of potatoes should be fed to livestock, Hall said.

A committee to contract other groups of potato growers was appointed.

Amphibian Bound for Belize Crashes

Panama City, Sept. 16—(UP)—A United States navy amphibian, enroute to Belize, British Honduras, from the Coco Solo air field with medical supplies, crashed at David, Panama, today.

Two of the crew were killed and two injured. The dead were Chief Pilot J. L. Jenkins and A. O. Miller, machinist. The injured were Lieut. C. A. Langford, co-pilot, and J. R. Miller, radio operator.

The plane left Coco Solo at 7 A. M. and landed at David for refueling. It crashed after taking off.

Freeman Held For Wisconsin Slaying

Winfield, Kan., Sept. 16—(UP)—Otto Wade, 29, farmer of the Winfield community, today stood exonerated of all suspicion in the slaying of Alvin S. Marshall near Eau Claire, Wis., the police department said.

Wade, who was arrested as a suspect was released from the county jail yesterday. Local officers consider the case closed, as far as he is concerned.

Lutheran Heads are Bishops, Speaker Avers

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 16—(UP)—The heads of Lutheran church bodies should be referred to as bishops rather than as presidents, Dr. Rasmus Malm, associate editor of the Lutheran Herald, Minneapolis, suggested today in an address at the opening session of the annual convention of the National Lutheran Editors Association.

The title, however, Dr. Malm said, should be used only as one of respect outside the organization.

BOARD ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF HARDSHIPS

AFFECTING ALL MEN, PAY CUTS ORDERED AS PART OF ECONOMY PROGRAM

London, Sept. 16—(UP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, first lord of the admiralty, announced in the House of Commons today that the government had authorized the admiralty board to make proposals for alleviation of hardships entailed in the navy pay reduction, after an investigation.

Sir Austen said the government had authorized the admiralty board to investigate the extent of the hardships that the pay cuts would work on the men, and make proposals for alleviating them.

Labor members met the announcement with cheers and taunts of weakness against the government. The pay cuts, affecting all officers and men of the navy, had been ordered as part of the general economy program.

Chamberlain announced the ships comprising the Atlantic fleet had been ordered to proceed to their home ports immediately.

London, Sept. 16—(UP)—A passive strike of enlisted men protesting wage reduction was in effect on every ship of Great Britain's great Atlantic fleet today.

Officers and marines were doing the work necessary aboard the fleet, anchored off Invergordon, Scotland. The situation was unparalleled in British naval history. The naval ratings, enlisted men, all refused to work with the exception of the cooks.

No disorders had been reported aboard the battleships today, although there were unprecedented demonstrations ashore and on the ships over the week end.

According to marine who came ashore at Invergordon today, the refusal of seamen to work followed a prearranged plan. Enlisted men of the Rodney and the Valiant first refused to work when they were called to duty at 6 a. m. Tuesday and started cheering as a signal to men aboard the other ships.

At 8 o'clock, when the white ensign was raised in the usual manner and the band played "God Save the King," the ratings of the other vessels of the fleet gave three cheers for King George and then refused to go to work.

Rear Admiral R. M. Colhine, chief of staff of the Atlantic fleet, reached London from Invergordon today and went immediately to the admiralty to report on the situation.

HOLD HOPE THAT FLIERS LANDED CANADIAN COAST

ATTEMPTING TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT. AVIATORS ARE NOW LONG OVERDUE

New York, Sept. 16—(UP)—A wrecked seaplane, picked up in the North Sea today by a British steam trawler, was that of Parker Cramer, American aviator experimenting for a possible air route between the United States and Europe, the Edo Aircraft Corporation said today.

New York, Sept. 16—(UP)—Fears that Willy Rody, Christian Johansen and Fernando Costa Viega were cheated of success on their trans-Atlantic flight almost within sight of land were expressed today as hour after hour passed without any trace of their Junkers monoplane Eas.

The two German pilots, and their Portuguese companion, bound for New York from Lisbon, Portugal, had a gas supply sufficient only for 48 hours. It could not have lasted longer than 6 a. m. yesterday.

Experienced airmen here were unwilling to admit the names of the three men—one a pilot who was making a brief bid for fame in a plane in which he had spent his inheritance, another an experienced German war pilot, and the third a youthful Portuguese adventure seeker—should be added yet to the eleven listed as lost in attempting their perilous westward crossing.

Search was renewed today for the fliers despite the fact that weather condition were not good along the Canadian coast.

They expressed the belief that the sea—only 80 miles from Cape Race at 2:40 p. m. Monday when it was sighted by the Steamer Pennlaub—might have landed in some section of the desolate country between New Foundland and the New England coast where communication facilities were lacking.

Copenhagen, Sept. 16—(UP)—The polar submarine, Nautilus, was enroute southward today after storms forced it to halt on the Norwegian coast between Tromsøe and Bergen.

Beret of Velvet Ribbon

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

In the early Paris millinery collections felt was in the lead, but later showings are reacting in favor of velvet. Many smart berets are made entirely of velvet ribbon. The model illustrated is a likable fashion for the schoolgirl. The original is in beige and brown, but it would be as effective in any of the new color combinations.

House Jackets Appear in Sports Wear Guise

Bright-colored coats resembling old-fashioned house jackets are a new wrinkle for Paris sports wear. They consist of a short straight piece across the back, reaching just below the shoulder blades and attached to long sleeves. The coats, worn over white sports frocks, are made of bright light-weight wool banded at the wrist in different colors.

Only 15 Cattle of 11,000 Examined in County Found T.B.

TEST CONTINUES AS FARMERS HOPE FOR HIGH RATING

5,000 Cattle Yet to be Examined; Limit of T. B. Cattle for Rating, 80

With 11,000 cattle already tested and all but 15 of this number found free from tuberculosis, Crow Wing county dairy farmers looked hopefully today to the completion of the test this week and the placing of the county in the class for credited list.

See Extended Market

Five thousand cattle are yet to be examined before the county wide test comes to a close and the 16 veterinarians approved by the state to do the work return to their homes.

If less than 80 reactors are listed for Crow Wing county, the state places the county on the accredited list and the natural reaction is an extended market for dairy products from the county and a higher rating on cattle when brought to market.

County Pays Cost

Should more than one percent of the cattle be discovered with tuberculosis then another county wide test will be necessary if the county desires the rating. However if more than one half of one percent and not less than one percent should be infected, then only those herds affected will be re-examined.

The cost of the test is met by county appropriation.

Headquarters for the test has been established in Brainerd with Dr. H. G. McGinn of this city in charge.

SEVEN LEPEERS HAVE CLOSE CALL AT SEA

Harrowing Adventure Over- takes Fishing Party.

Honolulu, Hawaii.—From the leper settlement at Kalaupapa, island of Molokai, comes a tale of heroism involving seven men in peril at sea, the desperate rescue of one who fell overboard, and the scaling of a precipitous cliff 2,000 feet high by one of their number in search of aid, after the boat had been beached in an almost inaccessible spot on the rocky shore of Molokai.

This was going on while air and surface vessels of the United States navy and ships and planes of the Interisland Steam Navigation company and Interisland Airways were searching for the missing men.

Five men left Kalaupapa to go fishing in an 18-foot sloop, temporarily rigged and without a keel. After they had been missing a few hours apprehension was felt at the settlement, and two other men set out in a 14-foot rowboat equipped with a 12-horse power outboard motor to search for them.

Sloop Unmanageable.

The sloop proved unmanageable when it encountered an unexpected strong east wind. William Kalama was washed overboard by a heavy sea and was rescued by Henry Kawewehi, who leaped into the sea from the drifting boat and placed a line around Kalama.

The sloop began to leak badly. They made no headway toward Kalaupapa. Kalama, at the helm, finally steered for the beach at Kamanawana, and by combined luck and skill struck an inlet through the reef about 20 feet wide, through which the boat was beached in a heavy surf.

The five men, one of whom could not swim, were stranded between the raging sea and the precipitous cliff, which had never been scaled.

William Kallima and Kanekon Punee, in the outboard motor boat, arrived about sunset and anchored about 50 yards off shore, fearing to come closer in the pounding surf.

Rescue Boat Sinks.

Kallima, realizing that one of the stranded party could not swim, ran ashore himself through the surf carrying a small line, intending to fasten it to driftwood to help the party aboard.

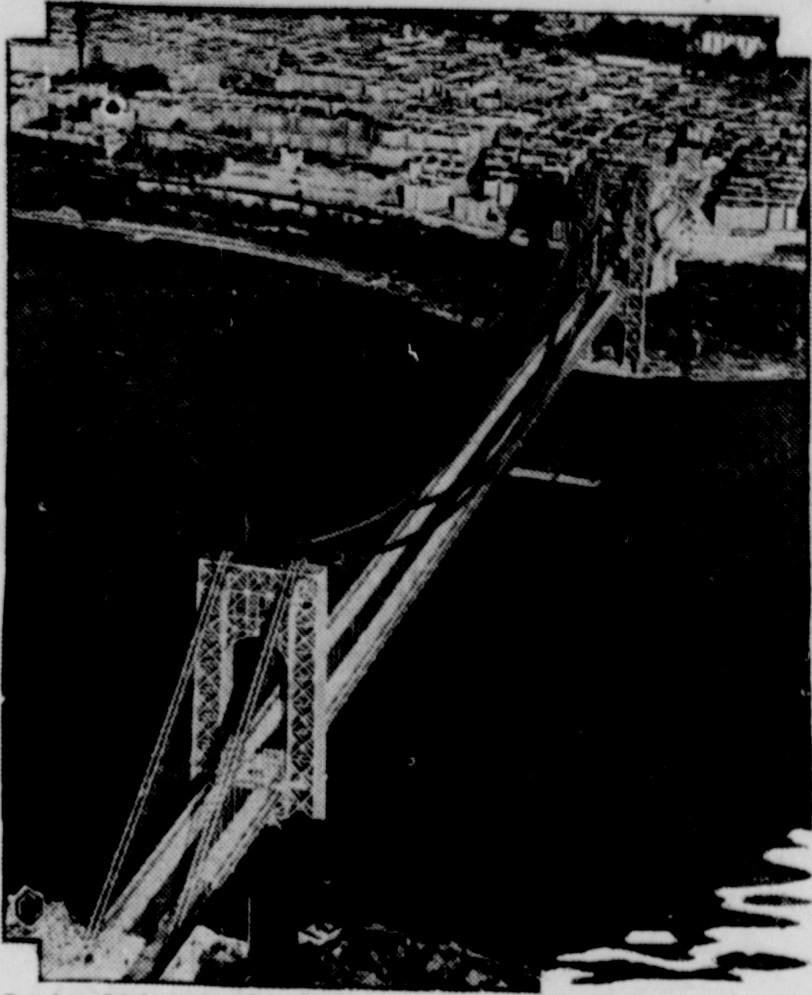

On this lifeline the entire party reached the rescue boat, and Kallima, with all aboard, attempted to return to Kalaupapa. The overloaded boat filled with water and began to sink.

Punee also was unable to swim. He clung to the sinking boat while Paul Kaeulali and Kallima helped Kiha, the other nonswimmer, to shore. Kallima then administered artificial respiration to Kiha while the others returned to rescue Punee.

The party remained all night on the beach without food or water. In the morning Kaeulali volunteered to climb the cliff and attempt to reach the settlement overland to bring aid. After a desperate attempt he reached the top and made his way to the settlement to report to the authorities.

Meanwhile the fishing sampan Fuji Maru, Capt. K. Fujimoto, passed within three miles of the stranded party and saw their signals. Kallima swam out to the sampan and a member of the crew accompanied him back to the beach, with lines in their teeth. They built a raft to convey the nonswimmers and the six men reached Kalaupapa by the sampan.

Worthy of Its Name

October 24 is to be the big day for the new George Washington Memorial Bridge which spans the Hudson River and links New York with New Jersey. On that day the structure will be officially dedicated and opened by Vice-President Charles Curtis, assisted by Governor Roosevelt of New York and Governor Larson of New Jersey. Above is a new picture of the bridge from the air.

AWARD CONTRACTS FOR HOSPITAL AND REFORMATORY JOB

IMPROVEMENTS INCLUDE ADDITION TO HOSPITAL AND OF STOKERS AT REFORMATORY

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 16.—(UP)—Contracts for $15,829 of work at the St. Cloud reformatory and the Fergus Falls hospital were awarded today by H. W. Austin, state purchasing commissioner.

The Combustion Engineering Corp., Minneapolis, with a bid of $6,298 will furnish and install five steam driven stokers at the state reformatory.

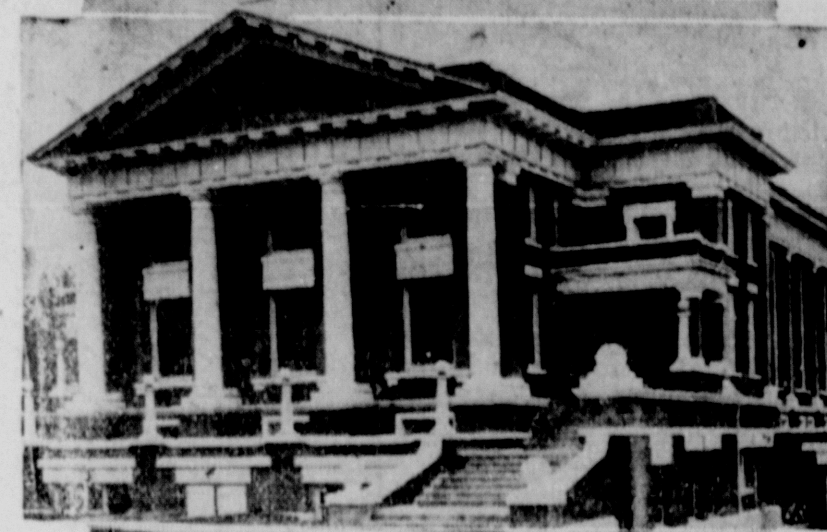

A contract for an addition to the coal handling plant at the Fergus Falls institution was awarded to the A. R. Robertson Co., St. Paul, for $3,533. The Murray Iron Works Co., St. Paul, with a bid of $4,570 will furnish and install boilers at the hospital and the Commonwealth Electric Co., St. Paul will furnish and install steam pumps at the hospital for $1,325.

Not So Foxy

Though denying that he boasted it was a "Yankee trick" to purposely lead Kaye Don, British entry in the Harmsworth Trophy races, over the line in advance of the starting gun, Gar Wood, "Old Fox" of motorboat racing, shown above the day after the race, is being criticized for the act. Wood's brother, George, in "Miss America VIII," won an empty victory as the result.

Feather Trimmings Are Typical of Fall Hats

Feather trimmings are stressed on fall hats. Whether the model be one inspired by the ambitious Empress Eugenie or a derby sailor the hat must have a feather.

The much-talked-of Rembrandt crown has a bright-colored contrasting feather stuck through it. The less dressy and modified cloche, with a soft brim, has a side ornament of feathers. A pretty gesture is the lifting of brims at the back, where clusters of tiny ostrich tips nestle.

Birds, mercury wings, tail feathers of barnyard fowl and ostrich plumes vie with each other as popular hat trimmings. Bi-color effects are favored, as in black wings tipped with red, orange or green.

Tiny Muffs Attached to New Fur Scarfs

A fur scarf with little, tiny muffs attached permanently to one of its long ends is something new on the horizon. The idea is good for chilly weather, for then there is no danger of leaving the muffs about on counters or in taxicabs when the momentary need for it has departed.

DEPRESSION CAUSES GOOD HEALTH ELIMINATING OVER-INDULGENCE IN MANY OF CASES

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(UP)—One cheering phase of the depression is that it has been good for our health.

Dr. Preston R. Hubbell, Detroit, told the American Electronic Research Association that the death rate dropped during the year and people in general were much healthier.

It may be people can't afford to get sick and there is less illness and less dying," he said. With the reduction of income has come less food-stuffing and over-indulgence.

Buttons on the New Coats By CHERRIE NICHOLAS

Fine cloth, fine furs and fine tailoring make fine coats for this fall and winter. Novelty is the word for sleeves and the new button-through fastening is very smart indeed. The large ocean pearl dome buttons exactly match the brown galeak fur which so effectively calls attention to the latest sleeve and collar silhouette.

Jeweled Headbands

A vogue for evening headaddresses is predicted for the coming winter season. Most of them are simple in design, consisting of a jeweled band or pin worn at the back of the coiffure.

Noted Educator

William H. McGuffey, author of McGuffey's school reader, was born in Washington county, Pa., in 1800, and graduated at Washington college, Pa., in 1825. He was professor, first, of ancient languages and later of moral philosophy in Miami university in 1829-1839, president of Ohio university in 1839-1843 and professor of moral philosophy in the University of Virginia from 1845 until his death, in 1873. He compiled the so-called "Eclectic Series" of readers and other school books, of which immense numbers were sold.

Bargain Hunter

Don received a penny for candy. He went to one of the two neighborhood stores and asked:

"How many of those do you get for a penny?" and he pointed to some candy.

"Five," was the reply.

"Is that all?" said Don, and he walked out. He went to the other store and asked the same question.

"Three," was the grocer's reply.

Don went back to the first store, tossed his penny on the counter and said:

"Well, gimme 'em."

Fat Men Not Criminals

Fat men may not be regarded with approval by modern doctors, but one consolation is theirs—prison authorities, at any rate in Japan, look upon them with considerable respect and esteem. A medical officer at one Japanese jail has just received a diploma from the Imperial university for a thesis on the proposition that fat men are rarely criminals and the most crime is committed by the lean and slender sort.—Manchester Guardian.

Harrowing Adventure Over- takes Fishing Party.

Honolulu, Hawaii.—From the leper settlement at Kalaupapa, island of Molokai, comes a tale of heroism involving seven men in peril at sea, the desperate rescue of one who fell overboard, and the scaling of a precipitous cliff 2,000 feet high by one of their number in search of aid, after the boat had been beached in an almost inaccessible spot on the rocky shore of Molokai.

This was going on while air and surface vessels of the United States navy and ships and planes of the Inter-island Steam Navigation company and Interisland Airways were searching for the missing men.

Five men left Kalaupapa to go fishing in an 18-foot sloop, temporarily rigged and without a keel. After they had been missing a few hours apprehension was felt at the settlement, and two other men set out in a 14-foot rowboat equipped with a 12-horse power outboard motor to search for them.

Sloop Unmanageable.

The sloop proved unmanageable when it encountered an unexpected strong east wind. William Kalama was washed overboard by a heavy sea and was rescued by Henry Kawewehi, who leaped into the sea from the drifting boat and placed a line around Kalama.

The sloop began to leak badly. They made no headway toward Kalaupapa. Kalama, at the helm, finally steered for the beach at Kamanawana, and by combined luck and skill struck an inlet through the reef about 20 feet wide, through which the boat was beached in a heavy surf.

The five men, one of whom could not swim, were stranded between the raging sea and the precipitous cliff, which had never been scaled.

William Kallima and Kanekoa Punee, in the outboard motor boat, arrived about sunset and anchored about 50 yards off shore, fearing to come closer in the pounding surf.

Rescue Boat Sinks.

Kallima, realizing that one of the stranded party could not swim, ran ashore himself through the surf carrying a small line, intending to fasten it to driftwood to help the party aboard.

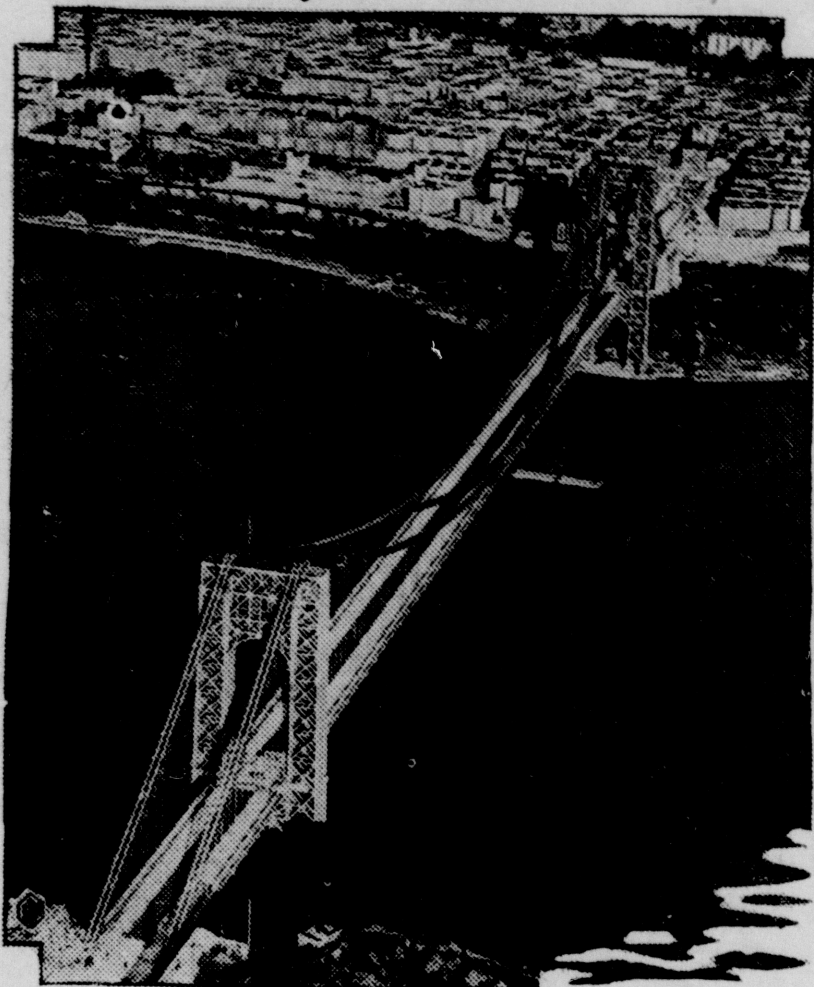

On this lifeline the entire party reached the rescue boat, and Kallima, with all aboard, attempted to return to Kalaupapa. The overloaded boat filled with water and began to sink.

Punee also was unable to swim. He clung to the sinking boat while Paul Kaeulali and Kallima helped Kiha, the other nonswimmer, to shore. Kallima then administered artificial respiration to Kiha while the others returned to rescue Punee.

The party remained all night on the beach without food or water. In the morning Kaeulali volunteered to climb the cliff and attempt to reach the settlement overland to bring aid. After a desperate attempt he reached the top and made his way to the settlement to report to the authorities.

Meanwhile the fishing sampan Fuji Maru, Capt. K. Fujimoto, passed within three miles of the stranded party and saw their signals. Kallima swam out to the sampan and a member of the crew accompanied him back to the beach, with lines in their teeth. They built a raft to convey the non-swimmers and the six men reached Kalaupapa by the sampan.

Worthy of Its Name

October 24 is to be the big day for the new George Washington Memorial Bridge which spans the Hudson River and links New York with New Jersey. On that day the structure will be officially dedicated and opened by Vice-President Charles Curtis, assisted by Governor Roosevelt of New York and Governor Larson of New Jersey. Above is a new picture of the bridge from the air.

Though denying that he boasted it was a "Yankee trick" to purposely lead Kaye Don, British entry in the Harmsworth Trophy races, over the line in advance of the starting gun, Gar Wood, "Old Fox" of motorboat racing, shown above the day after the race, is being criticized for the act. Wood's brother, George, in "Miss America VIII," won an empty victory as the result.

Feather Trimmings Are Typical of Fall Hats

Feather trimmings are stressed on fall hats. Whether the model be one inspired by the ambitious Empress Eugenie or a derby sailor the hat must have a feather.

The much-talked-of Rembrandt crown has a bright-colored contrasting feather stuck through it. The less dressy and modified cloche, with a soft brim, has a side ornament of feathers. A pretty gesture is the lifting of brims at the back, where clusters of tiny ostrich tips nestle.

Birds, mercury wings, tail feathers of barnyard fowl and ostrich plumes vie with each other as popular hat trimmings. Bi-color effects are favored, as in black wings tipped with red, orange or green.

Tiny Muffs Attached to New Fur Scarfs

A fur scarf with little, tiny muffs attached permanently to one of its long ends is something new on the horizon. The idea is good for chilly weather, for then there is no danger of leaving the muffs about on counters or in taxicabs when the momentary need for it has departed.

DEPRESSION CAUSES GOOD HEALTH ELIMINATING OVER-INDULGENCE IN MANY OF CASES

Chicago, Sept. 12.—(U.P.)—One cheering phase of the depression is that it has been good for our health.

Dr. Preston R. Hubbell, Detroit, told the American Electronic Research Association that the death rate dropped during the year and people in general were much healthier.

It may be people can't afford to get sick and there is less illness and less dying," he said.

With the reduction of income has come less food-stuffing and over-indulgence.

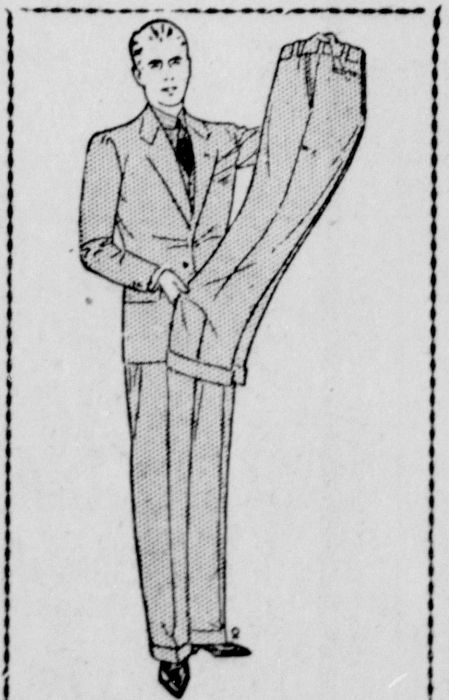

Buttons on the New Coats By CHERRIE NICHOLAS

Fine cloth, fine furs and fine tailoring make fine coats for this fall and winter. Novelty is the word for sleeves and the new button-through fastening is very smart indeed. The large ocean pearl dome buttons exactly match the brown galyak fur which so effectively calls attention to the latest sleeve and collar silhouette.

Jeweled Headbands

A vogue for evening headdresses is predicted for the coming winter season. Most of them are simple in design, consisting of a jeweled band or pin worn at the back of the coiffure.

Some Fire Facts--

Figures show that losses by fire during the year 1930 amounted to $4.16 for every man, woman and child in the United States, totaling almost one-half billion dollars. It is estimated that six churches or chapels suffer from fire loss every twenty-four hours, that fire damages a dozen public buildings every day and that 1,114 dwellings are enveloped in flames in the same period of time.

The entire fire loss, figuring the cost of fire fighting organizations totals $1,112,000,000, an almost unbelievable figure. These totals do not include losses by forest conflagration.

The fire loss in winter is much greater than during the summer months, mainly because fires are burning in practically every building, intense heat being generated to overcome the winter blasts.

Brainerd has had its share of fires, though it has not suffered as greatly as some other Minnesota cities, due to a good fire fighting crew and an abundant water supply. The fire hazard could be minimized all over the country if proper precautions were taken to prevent the start of flames and the season is here right now when every property owner in Brainerd should make an examination of his home or business block to the end that every possible chance for fire be eliminated.

Fire insurance rarely pays the full damage done by fire, water and smoke, but even if property is fully protected few people want to go through the horrors of a conflagration with its consequent destruction of well loved pieces of furniture, stocks of goods, etc. We know that an examination of chimney flues in every home and every business block would be money and time well spent and it would save the fire fighters of the community many an anxious hour of risk and exposure to the elements. Attend to your chimneys right now.

Then and Now--

While visiting a few weeks ago in Omaha we attended a theater and had the pleasure of listening to a brief address by President Hoover. Mr. Hoover called upon his hearers to be brave in the face of adversity and depression and told of the heroism of Washington and his troops while fighting for independence, likening the present situation to that which confronted the continentals.

At the time his theater audience was reclining in comfortable cushioned seats, the theater auditorium was cooled to a proper temperature, a well drilled orchestra was putting forth its best efforts to please, soft lights played over the audience and scenes were depicted on the screen from all corners of the world. Altogether it was high class entertainment enjoyed under ultra pleasing conditions. Yet our president compared our own situation to that of the soldiers at Valley Forge. In the judgment of the writer there are few people who suffer as Washington and his soldiers suffered and there can be no comparison between their condition and those who are facing hard times today.

In large part the trials of today could be greatly alleviated if reasonable self denial was practiced, but in these days of the fast traveling auto and all manner of entertainment for those who have the price it is little cause for wonder if want comes to some people. It is to be regretted that all cannot enjoy themselves as they please but the piper must be paid at the end of the dance and payment oft times causes suffering. Most of us have it within our power to provide for the future, but too many of us believe in permitting the future to care for itself.

Fighting for Their Jobs--

Professional politicians who seek to retain their office are making valiant attempts to convince the people that they hold the cure for the depression prevalent during the last few years.

These men advance various reasons for cause and cure, but inasmuch as they have been in power during the time of suffering it seems odd that they should believe their stories or nostrums will work now, or that people will turn to them for a solution of their problems. And not all the men who profess to know what ails the country can be classed as politicians, either, though practically all of them expect to be rewarded in some manner for their activity in behalf of those whose ears they assail with their cure-alls. Labor leaders assert vociferously that labor holds the key to the problem, while farm leaders declare that good prices for farm products would promptly end all evils of non-employment.

In certain agricultural states where farmers have held uninterrupted majorities in their legislatures conditions are just as bad as in the manufacturing states where labor union men predominate. That relief from the present era would be welcome goes without saying and the men or organization capable of leading the country out of its present condition would be hailed as worthy the greatest honor the country could confer.

An Equitable Tax---

The gas tax is one of the just and easy ways of collecting money from all the people; there is scarcely a family which does not contribute in greater or less degree to the maintenance of our system of highways through the collection of the gas tax and there never was a fairer or more equitable tax levied.

In Iowa, Gov. Kendall vetoed the tax law after the legislature had adjourned, but the succeeding legislature promptly re-enacted the measure and it has proven a popular way of supporting a great network of concrete highways.

Few states have a lower gas tax rate than Minnesota and few states can show greater mileage for the money expended than can be shown in this commonwealth. And the good work progresses rapidly under the direction of the highway commission. Every mile of paved highway is an invitation not alone to visitors but it brings our own people in close touch with the entire state and provides an easy means of getting to and from market and "going places and seeing things."

Just what is gained by the ocean fliers who risk their lives to exhibit their nerve cannot be told by the average citizen. People care little these days about long distance fliers, pole sitters, marathon dancers and their ilk.

BRAINERD'S WARRIORS ALREADY SAY 'DOWN WADENA'

STING OF FORMER TIE TO INSTILL FIGHT IN SQUAD

DAMMANN AND TAYLOR DRILL LARGE SQUAD DAILY FOR A HARD GRID SCHEDULE

"One week from Friday," Bill Dammann, senior coach and Ben Taylor, assistant, know that date all right and so do every one of the 70 football players of the Brainerd high.

Yes, it is Friday, Sept. 25 and by the fight the coaches are instilling in their boys it looks as though Brainerd high will "knock the pants off the Wadena bunch."

Just for good measure and the erasing of an old score, Brainerd's Warriors will swing into that opening game with a spirit of "Beat 'em."

And don't forget, the game is a home one to be played on the municipal field.

Bill and Ben, mentors, are getting the cooperation of Rolf Melby of the staff, who worked under former coach Kaach.

While he has a group of promising youngsters he hopes will do credit to the varsity, Dammann is depending largely on the strategy and dogged scrap of his veterans. He will build his squad around Elmer Foster, McPherson, Bob Wygle and Gerry Wygle, Koeck, Swanson, Templeton, Gahou.

Dammann will not select his starting line-up for the season's opener until the night before the contest. The boys will remember the sting of last year when Wadena, a comparatively weaker team, fought Brainerd to a 0 to 0 tie. That tie will affect the game this year and will provide a scrappy opener for the grid season.

Seventy men are being put through daily workouts. They are divided in various divisions, according to age, weight and speed. Dammann is concentrating on the first string but keeps an eye on good boys in the minor squads whom he considers possible candidates for promotion.

The average weight of the squad is about 130 pounds, a trifle lighter than what Dammann had hoped. The heaviest boy is Gerry Wygle who tips the scales at better than 170.

The dope is that Brainerd will drop its second game of the season but in so doing the Bemidji squad will know they've been through a battle. Bemidji high will bring to Brainerd Oct. 3 a husky squad of veterans of the appearance of a college team.

The boys upstate tip the scales generally around the 160 pound mark.

Brainerd's schedule is one hard battle after another and while there is certain to be defeats, much satisfaction will be derived from the fact that the boys are going against formidable competition. Dammann's Warriors hop to Staples Oct. 9 and Aitkin comes here Oct. 16. The Little Falls encounter is on Oct. 23 at the Falls. St. Cloud Cathedral is tentatively booked to come to Brainerd on Oct. 30. The game is now being arranged. It should provide one of the classic games of the season. And to wind up a good season, Coach Woeck will bring his Rangers from Crosby-Ironton here for the annual classic on Armistice day, Nov. 11.

N. Y. Teams Plan Charity Games

New York, Sept. 16.—(UP)—The proposed New York City championship series for the benefit of the unemployed has been abandoned in favor of a doubleheader involving the New York Yankees and Giants and the Brooklyn Robins at Yankee stadium, September 24.

The plan, as approved by a committee of sports writers representing Mayor Walker's relief committee, calls for the Giants and Robins to meet in the first game, with the Yankees and Robins meeting in the second. The Yankees previously defeated the Giants in a charity game which netted $59,000 for unemployment relief.

Although owners of the three clubs had agreed to play a six game championship series, they later withdrew support of this plan and suggested a single game between the Robins and Yankees.

GOPHERS UNLIMBER FOR BIG TEST IN STANFORD CLASH

CRISLER AND SIX ASSISTANTS BEGIN WHIPPING SQUAD OF 76 INTO SHAPE

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 16.—(UP)—Preliminary drills coincident with conditioning a large football squad were underway today at the University of Minnesota where Coach Herbert "Fritz" Crisler and six assistant coaches made all speed toward rounding out a formidable eleven.

Despite news from Palo Alto, Calif., that Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, 60 year old coach at Stanford University was under treatment for an internal disorder, the Gopher squad was pointed for its first "big game" with Stanford.

With at least a start of two weeks ahead of last year through intense spring practice, the schedule of practice is designed to round out the squad in the minimum of time.

Every form of drill, from blocking and tackling to passing and kicking was conducted at Tuesday's practice. Only actual scrimmage was foregone. Loss of a number of luminaries were shone brightly during spring practice faced the Gophers either through ineligibility or failure of the athletes to register for the fall quarter.

In the two departments in which the Minnesota team will need the most reserves at ends and tackles, promising candidates apparently are lost. Frank Larson, Duluth, sophomore end and Howard Nichol, St. Cloud, tackle, will not return to school this quarter.

Seventy-six candidates are attending practice, including 17 freshmen. Crisler today awaited reports on the eligibility of Harold Anderson, veteran end, My Uble, half back star on the freshman squad last year, another end Al Krezowski and George McPartin, halfback.

George Kakela, veteran tackle, was declared eligible Tuesday.

CARDINALS CAN CLINCH TITLE IN TODAY'S GAME

NATIONAL LEAGUE PACE SET- TERS LEAD GIANTS BY 10½ GAMES

New York, Sept. 16.—(UP)—Philadelphia's world champion Athletics today were assured of their third consecutive American league pennant and needed only one more victory to become the first major league club to win 100 or more games per season for three consecutive years.

The Athletics clinched the American league championship yesterday with a 14 to 3 triumph over Cleveland, while the second place Washington Senators were losing to St. Louis, 5 to 4.

The triumph placed the A's 13 1-2 games ahead of Washington with only 12 to play. The Senators will have 13 games to play but cannot finish better than second even if they win all their games and the Athletics lose all of theirs. The standings:

Philadelphia . . . 99 43 .697
Washington . . . 85 56 .603

St. Louis' Cardinals have an opportunity to clinch the National league pennant today. The Cards assured themselves of no worse than a tie for first by shutting out Philadelphia, 5 to 0, yesterday while the second place Giants were idle because of rain.

The Cards now are 10 1-2 games ahead with 10 to play. The Giants have 11 games remaining but can do no better than tie if they win all of their games and the Cards lose all ten of theirs. The standings:

St. Louis . . . 95 49 .660
New York . . . 84 59 .587

The veteran Eddie Rommel pitched Philadelphia's deciding victory, holding Cleveland to nine hits while his mates pounded harder and Hildebrand for 18.

A five-hit pitching performance by Jim Lindsey gave St. Louis its shut-out over Philadelphia.

Only two other games were played in the National league, with Pittsburgh winning a double header from Brooklyn, 5 to 2 and 2 to 1. Heine Meine and Larry French pitched for the winners who moved to within 2 1-2 games of a first division berth.

St. Louis not only cut Washington out of the pennant race but cut the Senators' lead over New York to a single game. Washington got away to an early lead but the Browns rallied to tie the score with three runs in the eighth and won in the ninth on Levy's single, a sacrifice, Bluege's error and an infield out.

Lou Gehrig's 44th home un of the season featured the New York Yankees' 9 to 2 triumph over Detroit.

Oliver's tenth inning single with the bases full gave Boston a 3 to 2 victory over Chicago.

Texas Senate Adopts Redistricting Measure

Austin, Tex., Sept. 16.—(UP)—The Texas senate today adopted a measure restricting cotton planting in 1932 to 25 per cent of the cultivated lands of this year.

The measure was adopted by a vote of 15 to 12 as an amendment to the cotton bill it is now considering. It strikes from that bill the 33 1-3 per cent restriction clause and substitutes 25 per cent.

Thus, the senate in adopting a cotton law, must choose between the amended restriction bill and the plan of Gov. Huey Long, Louisiana, for complete cessation of planting.

BRAINERD HUNTERS SHARPEN EYES FOR PRAIRIE CHICKEN

5-DAY OPEN SEASON ON BIRDS OPENS TODAY IN TEN COUN- TIES OF STATE

Closest of the ten counties open to hunting prairie chicken and grouse today was the destination of Brainerd hunters with the opening of five-day open season on these birds.

Shooting of prairie chicken and grouse in Crow Wing county is a forbidden pleasure.

The counties open to hunting include Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Beltrami, Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Pennington, Pine and Aitkin.

The season will close Sunday. The open season is the result of an executive order by Governor Olson issued after Game and Fish Commissioner William D. Stewart had made a survey of the state and reported that there was no danger of undue depletion of white-breasted or sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens.

EX-CHAMPIONS ELIMINATED IN PRO TOURNEY

FAVORITES JOIN GALLERY AS PLAY SWINGS INTO SECOND ROUND

Wannamoisett Country Club, Rumford, R. I., Sept. 16.—(UP)—Walter Hagen, five time champion and pre-tourney favorite in the current competition, was on the sidelines today as the 1931 Professional Golfers Association championship moved into the second round of match play.

Hagen, who was eliminated yesterday by the little known Pete O'Hara of Verona, Pa., had plenty of company, for Johnny Farrell, one time national open champion, Leo Dudley, three time P. G. A. ruler and Dudley, 1932 western open champion, also were put out of play in their opening matches.

The survivors, with pairings for today are:
Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., vs. Horton Smith, Detroit.

Low Miggs of Columbus knocked out his sixth home run in six days, and Dud Branon of Louisville pounded two balls over the right field fence.

Rube Benton allowed only five hits, but Milwaukee made these count for a 3 to 2 victory over Minneapolis in a game that required only an hour and 17 minutes to play. Earl Caldwell, doing mound work for the brewers, gave eight hits.

No other games were played yesterday in the American Association.

This is an aerial view of Belize, capital of British Honduras, in Central America, which was battered by a fierce hurricane that caused at least 500 deaths and untold property damage. The United States government has ordered a relief expedition to proceed from the Canal Zone to the stricken area.

THREE Helens (one spells that name with a third "e") dominate sport headlines concerning women athletes as 1930 is moving into history. Once more Mrs. Helen Wills Moody rules the tennis world of the fair sex as completely as Bobby Jones did that of golf until his retirement late last fall. Helen (most people call her "Billie"), Hicks is the most potent personality just now in women's golf. And in aquatic sports, Helene Madison continues to demonstrate spectacular supremacy.

Each of the Helens, and Helene is included, have distinct feminine charm, but their personalities differ more than do the form and usage of a golf club, a tennis racket and a swimming suit. Helen Wills (now becoming better known as "The Great Moody") seems as cold a feminine competitor as ever defeated an opponent. She seldom smiles when in action and she no longer appears to resent (indeed, she ignores) the press appellation of "Poker Face."

This Helen was a pig-tailed, solemn visaged miss of 15 (she's now 25) when she first came East to play in nation tournaments. She has classic beauty which might be marred by much smiling. But that's not the reason for her immobile countenance when at play. She's concentrating then, and that—as much as her mighty right arm—mows down all opposition on tennis courts.

Now, the Helen of the House of Hicks is of the sunny, jolly, competitive type—just the sort of beaming person one would fondly call "Billie." Smiling does not seem to affect her concentration; yet some critics say her faulty putting would be corrected more speedily were she to putt with the icy self-possession that characterizes the Great Moody's maneuvers on the court. Miss Hicks may win the national title next week.

Miss Madison is an all too rare combination of willowy muscularity and good looks that would qualify her anywhere as an American Venus. Her disposition in competition is a happy mien between the vigorous high spirits and modesty of good American order.

These Helens of America may never launch a thousand ships but they can, and do, evoke at least a million cheers throughout the U. S. A.

Washington 85 56 .603

St. Louis' Cardinals have an opportunity to clinch the National league pennant today. The Cards assured themselves of no worse than a tie for first by shutting out Philadelphia, 5 to 0, yesterday while the second place Giants were idle because of rain.

The Cards now are 10 1-2 games ahead with 10 to play. The Giants have 11 games remaining but can do no better than tie if they win all of their games and the Cards lose all ten of theirs. The standings:

St. Louis 95 49 .660
New York 84 59 .587

The veteran Eddie Rommel pitched Philadelphia's deciding victory, holding Cleveland to nine hits while his mates pounded harder and Hidebrand for 18.

A five-hit pitching performance by Jim Lindsey gave St. Louis its shut-out over Philadelphia.

Only two other games were played in the National league, with Pittsburgh winning a double header from Brooklyn, 5 to 2 and 2 to 1. Heine Meine and Larry French pitched for the winners who moved to within 2 1-2 games of a first division berth.

St. Louis not only cut Washington out of the pennant race but cut the Senators' lead over New York to a single game. Washington got away to an early lead but the Browns rallied to tie the score with three runs in the eighth and won in the ninth on Levy's single, a sacrifice, Bluege's error and an infield out.

Lou Gehrig's 44th home un of the season featured the New York Yankees' 9 to 2 triumph over Detroit.

Oliver's tenth inning single with the bases full gave Boston a 3 to 2 victory over Chicago.

Texas Senate Adopts Redistricting Measure

Austin, Tex., Sept. 16.—(UP)—The Texas senate today adopted a measure restricting cotton planting in 1932 to 25 per cent of the cultivated lands of this year.

The measure was adopted by a vote of 15 to 12 as an amendment to the cotton bill it is now considering. It strikes from that bill the 33 1-3 per cent restriction clause and substitutes 25 per cent.

Thus, the senate in adopting a cotton law, must choose between the amended restriction bill and the plan of Gov. Huey Long, Louisiana, for complete cessation of planting.

BRAINERD HUNTERS SHARPEN EYES FOR PRAIRIE CHICKEN

5-DAY OPEN SEASON ON BIRDS OPENS TODAY IN TEN COUN- TIES OF STATE

Closest of the ten counties open to hunting prairie chicken and grouse today was the destination of Brainerd hunters with the opening of five-day open season on these birds.

Shooting of prairie chicken and grouse in Crow Wing county is a forbidden pleasure.

The counties open to hunting include Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Beltrami, Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Pennington, Pine and Aitkin.

The season will close Sunday. The open season is the result of an executive order by Governor Olson issued after Game and Fish Commissioner William D. Stewart had made a survey of the state and reported that there was no danger of undue depletion of white-breasted or sharp-tailed grouse and prairie chickens.

The survivors, with pairings for today are:

Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., vs. Horton Smith, Detroit.

CALDWELL BESTS RUBE BENTON IN BRILLIANT DUEL

MINNEAPOLIS FALLS BEFORE MILWAUKEE; COLUMBUS LOSES TO COLONELS

(By United Press)
Home runs made up for any lack of excitement due to Columbus' inability to provide Louisville competition in the Colonels' 15 to 5 walkaway victory.

Low Miggs of Columbus knocked out his sixth home run in six days, and Dud Brannan of Louisville pounded two balls over the right field fence.

Rube Benton allowed only five hits, but Milwaukee made these count for a 3 to 2 victory over Minneapolis in a game that required only an hour and 17 minutes to play. Earl Caldwell, doing mound work for the brewers, gave eight hits.

No other games were played yesterday in the American Association.

Alternate Bout to Insure Good Card

HELENE MADISON--
WORLD'S GREATEST

THREE Helens (one spells that name with a third "e") dominate sport headlines concerning women athletes as 1930 is moving into history. Once more Mrs. Helen Wills Moody rules the tennis world of the fair sex as completely as Bobby Jones did that of golf until his retirement late last fall. Helen (most people call her "Billie"), Hicks is the most potent personality just now in women's golf. And in aquatic sports, Helene Madison continues to demonstrate spectacular supremacy.

Each of the Helens, and Helene is included, have distinct feminine charm, but their personalities differ more than do the form and usages of a golf club, a tennis racket and a swimming suit.

Helen Wills (now becoming better known as "The Great Moody") seems as cold a feminine competitor as ever defeated an opponent. She seldom smiles when in action and she no longer appears to resent (indeed, she ignores) the press appellation of "Poker Face."

This Helen was a pig-tailed, solemn visaged miss of 15 (she's now 25) when she first came East to play in nation tournaments. She has classic beauty which might be marred by much smiling. But that's not the reason for her immobile countenance when at play. She's concentrating then, and that arm—mows down all opposition on tennis courts.

Now, the Helen of the House of Hicks is of the sunny, jolly, competitive type—just the sort of beaming person one would fondly call "Billie." Smiling does not seem to affect her concentration; yet some critics say her faulty putting would be corrected more speedily were she to put with the icy self-possession that characterizes the Great Moody's maneuvers on the court. Miss Hicks may win the national title next week.

Miss Madison is an all too rare combination of willowy muscularity and good looks that would qualify her anywhere as an American Venus. Her disposition in competition is a happy mean between the vigorous high spirits and modesty of good American order.

These Helens of America may never launch a thousand ships but they can, and do, evoke at least a million cheers throughout the U. S. A.

BRAINERD COUNCIL OPENS PAVING BIDS FOR ALLEYS SOON

Action Expected at Meeting Sept. 24;
Local Purchasers Desire
Bonds

Bids for the paving of alleys of downtown Brainerd will be opened and read to the city council at a special or adjourned meeting called for that purpose, Sept. 24 at 8 p. m. in the council chambers.

Project to Cost $6,000
The alleys designated for paving are those in Blocks 41, 43 and 45, embraced by Laurel street on the south, Front street on the north, Broadway on the east and Fifth street on the west.

The cost of the paving, estimated by City Engineer R. T. Campbell, will be approximately $6,000 and it may be necessary to advertise the sale of bonds to promote the improvement.

The paving of downtown alleys is recognized widely by merchants and individual property owners of the city as a decided asset, one that will give Brainerd a cleaner and even more attractive appearance than it already is.

Much Interest in Work
If the public improvement bonds are placed for sale it appears likely that local interests will favor their purchase.

The movement to pave downtown alleys is one that has created much interest since the plan was originally introduced three months ago.

Trans-Atlantic Air Mail Service Looms as Imminent Probability

Ship-to-Shore Mail Shipment from Liner Europa, 1,275 Miles at Sea, to New York Supports Feasibility of Trans-Atlantic Air Mail Service via "Floating Islands."

LAUNCHING EUROPA'S MAIL PLANE

COURSE OF MID-OCEAN MAIL FLIGHT

AT END OF TRIP, PILOT BLANKENBURG (Right)

Catapulted from the liner Europa at 11 o'clock in the morning, 600 miles from Sidney, Breton Island, off Nova Scotia, and 1,275 miles from New York, a plane piloted by Joachim Blankenburg flew with mail to Sidney where it landed six hours later. After refueling, the craft took off for its destination at New York, where it landed at 10 the following morning, beating the Europa's time for mail delivery by 30 hours. The feat is all the more remarkable as the Europa is the fastest liner afloat, with a time record from Europe of 4 days, 17 hours and 6 minutes. The smoothness with which the operation was carried to a successful conclusion makes it reasonable to suppose that the oft-proposed scheme for a string of floating islands across the Atlantic, as service stations for trans-oceanic mail planes, is not such a wild dream as was at one time imagined.

Encourage Promotion Events By Crow Wing Co. 4-H Clubs

E. G. ROTH, County Agent
GERTRUDE ANDERSON, Club Agent

STATES WIN ENCOURAGE ACHIEVEMENT

The Lake Edward 4H club held their regular meeting at the school on September 3 to check up on the year's work and the success of the club at the county fair.

All members were present but one and at roll call each member reported having finished all their projects and exhibited at the fair, this making the club a one hundred per cent finish up club, which was the "Clubs' Goal."

The club voted that a "Vote of Thanks" be extended to the County Fair Board, the business men of Brainerd, our county agent, E. G. Roth, and our county club agent, Miss Anderson, for the good time they all had at the fair.

In summing up the value of the different prizes and honors gained by the club and the members, they find that the Lake Edward 4H club is about $110 richer than they were before the fair.

CROW WING DELEGATES RETURN TO THEIR HOMES

All the Crow Wing county 4H club members, who were awarded trips to the state fair, have returned safely to their various communities.

Winings that the club boys and girls made, and for which we have reports on, are as follows:

County Club 4H booth under the direction of Mrs. John Gibson, first prize or champion.

Agricultural Demonstration Team, as represented by Betty and George Wahl of Ironton on Home Beautification—third prize.

Gardening exhibit by Leo Miller of the Gilbert Lake 4H club—4th prize.

Pure bred Hampshire gilt pig exhibited by Milton Strause of Little Pine 4H club—third prize.

Early Ohio potatoes exhibited by Willard Terry of the Dean Lake 4H club—3rd prize.

All the boys and girls made a creditable showing, upholding the traditions of club work for the county. Everyone reported a most wonderful time at the state fair, and other events planned for their benefit by the state 4H club department and business men of the Twin Cities.

BRAINERD GIRL WINS STATE 4H CLUB MEDAL

A beautiful silver medal has been awarded through the state 4H club department to Hortense McKay, Brainerd, Star route, of the Oak Lawn Boosters 4H club for winning first prize in the Style Revue that was put on at the county fair at Pequot.

Elsie Mae Currier, Deerwood, of the Shurt Lake 4H club was awarded the bronze medal for winning second prize in the Style Revue.

ESTABLISHES LOAN FUND FOR WORKERS

A $5,000 loan fund has been provided by F. H. Prince of the Union Stockyards company of Chicago who is much interested in 4H work. 4H members wishing to go to college, and desiring a loan, may use this fund. A loan of $250 may be secured upon recommendation of the county and state leader. The loan is for 5 years, without interest. Anyone interested should write County Agent E. G. Roth, court house, Brainerd. The fund is available immediately.

Many of the 4H clubs are planning to hold Achievement Day programs. In many cases a regular club meeting of one of the autumn months will be devoted to a program recognizing the results of the year's work. In many counties where there is a county-wide 4H club association, a county achievement day is arranged. Sometimes the event takes the form of a banquet or lunch to 4H members by some special organization.

The following is a suggested program:

1. Report, by an officer of club on work of club for the year.

2. Demonstrations, by individuals or teams winning county or state recognition.

3. Brief accounts of their trips by various club members who have represented the club at county or state events.

4. How 4H work has affected the homes of the community, by a parent.

5. Plans for the coming year's program.

6. A small exhibit of outstanding products produced during the year is a good feature.

7. Achievement in health work during the year.

8. Completing as near to 100 per cent as possible, the aim of every member, by a club member.

RECORD BOOKS AWAIT FIRST THREE APPLICANTS

Miss Cora Cooke, Extension Specialist in Poultry, has sent a letter to County Agent E. G. Roth in regard to securing poultry records from poultry raisers in Crow Wing county.

Only material for three poultry raisers will be furnished free of charge by the University for this work. The University of Minnesota will furnish all material such as record books and blanks, reports, statements, etc., for those wishing to keep a record of this poultry business. Any poultry raiser can, by joining this project, maintain a complete record of their poultry business, as kept by the university.

The first three poultry raisers that hand in their names to County Agent E. G. Roth's office will be taken as co-operators for 1932.

Anyone interested should write or see the county agent at once.

EARLY BRAINERD HOTEL MATRON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. LeMoine, Stricken, Operated Historic Antler's Hotel, Destroyed by Fire

Funeral rites for Mrs. Mary LeMoine, associated with the early life of Brainerd, were to be arranged today by her widower, Maurice LeMoine, Crow Wing township farmer, pending word from their daughter, Mrs. Minor Andrews, of Chicago.

Mrs. LeMoine succumbed to heart disease in the St. Joseph's hospital, Brainerd, late Tuesday after a lengthy illness.

When Brainerd was a young town Mrs. LeMoine operated the old Antlers hotel. She had managed the hostelry for 15 years when it burned to the ground in a spectacular blaze. The same year she moved with her husband to Crow Wing township where they resided for the past 20 years.

BRAINERD COUNCIL OPENS PAVING BIDS FOR ALLEYS SOON

Action Expected at Meeting Sept. 24;
Local Purchasers Desire
Bonds

Bids for the paving of alleys of downtown Brainerd will be opened and read to the city council at a special or adjourned meeting called for that purpose, Sept. 24 at 8 p. m. in the council chambers.

Project to Cost $6,000

The alleys designated for paving are those in Blocks 41, 43 and 45, embraced by Laurel street on the south, Front street on the north, Broadway on the east and Fifth street on the west.

The cost of the paving, estimated by City Engineer R. T. Campbell, will be approximately $6,000 and it may be necessary to advertise the sale of bonds to promote the improvement.

The paving of downtown alleys is recognized widely by merchants and individual property owners of the city as a decided asset, one that will give Brainerd a cleaner and even more attractive appearance than it already is.

Much Interest in Work

If the public improvement bonds are placed for sale it appears likely that local interests will favor their purchase.

The movement to pave downtown alleys is one that has created much interest since the plan was originally introduced three months ago.

Trans-Atlantic Air Mail Service Looms as Imminent Probability

Ship-to-Shore Mail Shipment from Liner Europa, 1,275 Miles at Sea, to New York Supports Feasibility of Trans-Atlantic Air Mail Service via "Floating Islands."

LAUNCHING EUROPA'S MAIL PLANE

COURSE OF MID-OCEAN MAIL FLIGHT

AT END OF TRIP, PILOT BLANKENBURG (Right)

Catapulted from the liner Europa at 11 o'clock in the morning, 600 miles from Sydney, Breton Island, off Nova Scotia, and 1,275 miles from New York, a plane piloted by Joachim Blankenburg flew with mail to Sydney where it landed six hours later. After refueling, the craft took off for its destination at New York, where it landed at 10 the following morning, beating the Europa's time for mail delivery by 30 hours. The feat is all the more remarkable as the Europa is the fastest liner afloat, with a time record from Europe of 4 days, 17 hours and 6 minutes. The smoothness with which the operation was carried to a successful conclusion makes it reasonable to suppose that the oft-proposed scheme for a string of floating islands across the Atlantic, as service stations for trans-oceanic mail planes, is not such a wild dream as was at one time imagined.

KIDNAP PET FROM ANTI-CRUELTY SOCIETY WITH JUDGE'S HELP

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(UP)—Skipper has to go to the dog doctor but he does not have to go back to the pound.

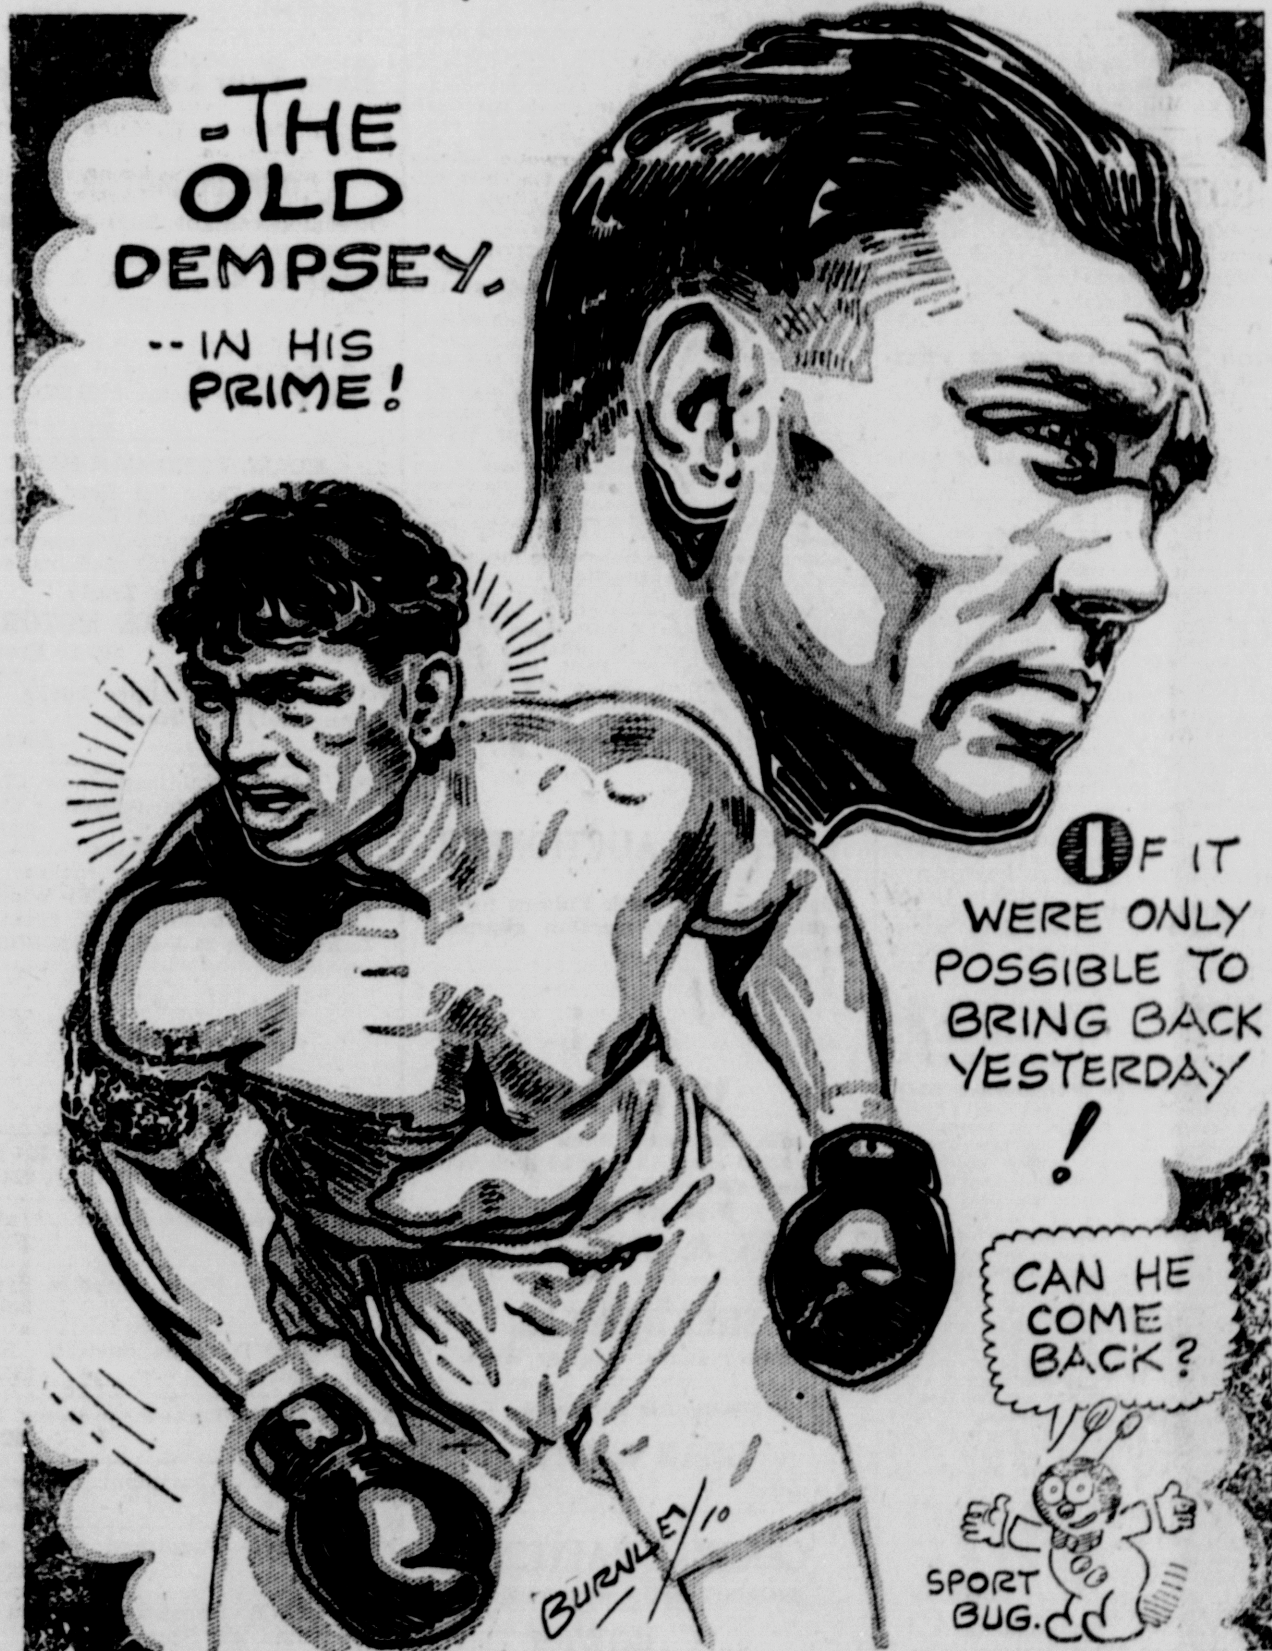

William "Sailor" Friedman, former light weight boxer who owns the dog, arranged it. He "kidnaped" his pet from the Anti-Cruelty Society pound where Skipper was under observation for rabies.

"They weren't feeding him," Friedman declared in court, "and an attendant told me they often killed four or five dogs a day there. I wanted Skipper to have a fair chance."

Judge Casey sympathized and said a visit to a veterinarian would do. Comedian Joe Cook gave Skipper to Friedman.

Ol' Champ's Resurrection

By HARDIN BURNLEY

CAN HE COME BACK?

SPORT BUG.

9-17

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THAT Jack Dempsey could lick all the current crop of headline heavies (Sharkey, Schaefer, Loughran, Carnera, et al) in one night is the firmly vociferous conviction of the average sport bug. The most picturesque of modern punchers seems to have even a more popular appeal than John L. Sullivan and Jim Jeffries did before their respective Corbett and Johnson anticlimaxes. Fight fan, almost to a man, has been rooting for the old Manassa Mauler ever since he began his comeback efforts with a tour of the hinterlands which began early last month.

Dempsey began bumpin' 'em off at Reno, two and three a night, and drew capacity wherever his historic muscles sent handonny heavies bounding off the resined canvas. At Portland, Ore., almost 18,000 crammed the hall to see historic "Iron Mike" do its quick K. O. stuff.

The erstwhile "Man Killer" looks to be in remarkably good shape considering his long layoff and his 35 years. At this writing, his weight is reported as being 199 pounds and his punch seems to be stiff indeed. Of course, Dempsey's trial bouts are limited to four rounds when his opponents manage to stay up. In brief action his speed is surprising. Perhaps he can whip himself into sufficient condition to go five or six rounds at close to old-time fighting form. If he can, Jack may astound skeptics who question the wisdom of his comeback campaign.

Even if this popular idol doesn't manage to get another champion ship go, he probably will make even more than Primo Carnera did when touring the nation through 1929. If the green Italian giant could produce "a wrestling thrill" pushing 'em over, why can't the modern Symbol of Sock pack 'em in on a bigger scale?

Why rumor persists that Gene Tunney will doff his millionaire habiliments to shie his caster again into title lists! The Scholar and the Mauler are natural, inveterate rivals. Dempsey fought to die at Philadelphia and to go to the right corner until 14 seconds had elapsed. These momentous omissions may be offset when, and if those ex-champs ever clash in a third tilt. It's a heart-stirring hope for the average sport bug, anyway, this Dempsey tour!

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

September 16, 1906

Judd Wright received a letter from P. B. Nettleton today in which he states that he will not return to Brainerd. He says there is too much money lying around loose there and he wants to help gather in some of it. Nettleton is now in Seattle. It is not known here as yet who will succeed him as agent for the State Institution for Savings.

A merry party consisting of Louis Hohman, Ray Paine, Ira C. White, Artie White and H. W. Linnemann made the chickens suffer today and yesterday.

The Lind boys of Southeast Brainerd returned today from a vacation spent at the home of Joe Rutger, Bay Lake.

J. C. Congdon solemnly declares that his old white horse outfooted Dr. Reimstad's fancy pacer the other night, and there were no wolves in either.

Arch Deacon Appleby was a guest of Rev. Perdue between trains today on his way home to Duluth from Walker.

A car of crushed stone destined for the Sanatorium for Tuberculosis at Walker, undertook to traverse two tracks at the same time in the yard here today, and as a result the passenger train to and from St. Paul had to run up to the depot stern foremost, the "Y" being locked. Passenger traffic was not delayed in the least as a freight train went on with the disabled car.

Miss Mary Yeager, Minneapolis, who has been visiting Miss Whiteley in this city, returned home this morning.

Bert Halladay returned to St. Paul this morning by way of Duluth to resume his work for the Great Northern. M. E. Ryan and son Donald, went to Little Falls today.

Glad She Was Fooled

After overhearing a remark by his father that the age of a tree may be estimated by the number of rings about its trunk, a small boy threw a scare at his mother's party. The boy looked confidently into the face of one of the guests, who was on the further side of forty and was fondling her necklace, and remarked, "Lady, I can tell how old you are." Amid frantic attempts at hushing he managed to get out:

"You are twenty-two. I counted the number of rings on your necklace." The lady hugged the boy and the mother sighed her deep relief.

COFFEE WITH IDEAL FLAVOR PRODUCED BY IMPROVED ROASTING

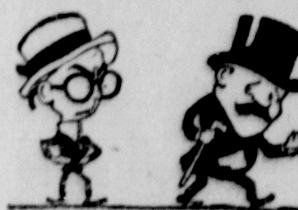

Patented Process Insures Perfect Roast for Every Pound of Hills Bros. Coffee

Roasting, as much as blend, is responsible for the fine flavor of coffee. In fact, ordinary bulk-roasting methods often fail to give the blend "a break." That's because bulk methods don't always insure an even roast. Hills Bros. invented and patented a process that overcomes this undesirable feature. It is called Controlled Roasting, for control is the principle of the process.

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so a perfect roast is procured for Hills Bros. Coffee by this patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. The speed of the coffee through the roasters is controlled. The temperature is controlled. These two things insure unvarying flavor—for the blend is never under-roasted nor over-roasted.

Remember that Hills Bros. Coffee can't go stale. It is packed in vacuum cans. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is removed and kept out of these cans. Ordinary, "air-tight" cans won't keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh. Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

Prize Exhibit Is Matron's Idea

Praise goes to Mrs. John Gibson, Gilbert Lake matron for her excellent work in arranging and placing of the Crow Wing County 4-H Club exhibit that won the admiration of judges who gave it first place in competition at the Minnesota State Fair.

Early Days of Steamships

The first voyage of the steamship Great Western across the Atlantic lasted from April 8, 1838, to April 23, her average day's run being 215 miles. Altogether she made five double passages in 1838, six in 1839, and before she was disposed of in 1846 crossed and recrossed 74 times. No other ship had a finer record and none attracted more attention. While she was still running on the Atlantic Sir John Rennie referred to her first passage, remarking that "the success of this voyage across the Atlantic having exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its promoters and, indeed, of the world, there seemed no bounds to the extension of steam navigation."

Gold Has "String" Attached

Sooner or later the tourist who is really a tourist, and not merely a tripper, turns up in Johannesburg, the most interesting city in the southern hemisphere, says a traveler, and when he does he wants to learn all about the gold they dig up in such great quantities from the Witwatersrand mines. The mining companies are ready for him, and trips down to the depths of Village Deep, 7,000 feet below the surface, can always be arranged. They will even let you take away as much gold as you like—if you can carry it—but they take the precaution of putting it into half-ton slabs to prevent accidents.

Growth of Fire Engines

When the greater part of London was burned in 1666, fire engines were operated by hand, and water was ejected by means of a giant syringe. A tank and a pump worked by hand were introduced later, but water could be squirted by this device only a short distance. It frequently happened that the engine itself was destroyed by fire. The pumps were gradually improved, and flexible pipes were used, but pumps driven by steam were not invented until the Nineteenth century. Horse-drawn engines were employed until 1803, when the first self-propelled fire engines were built.

KIDNAP PET FROM ANTI-CRUELTY SOCIETY WITH JUDGE'S HELP

Chicago, Sept. 16.—(UP)—Skippy has to go to the dog doctor but he does not have to go back to the pound.

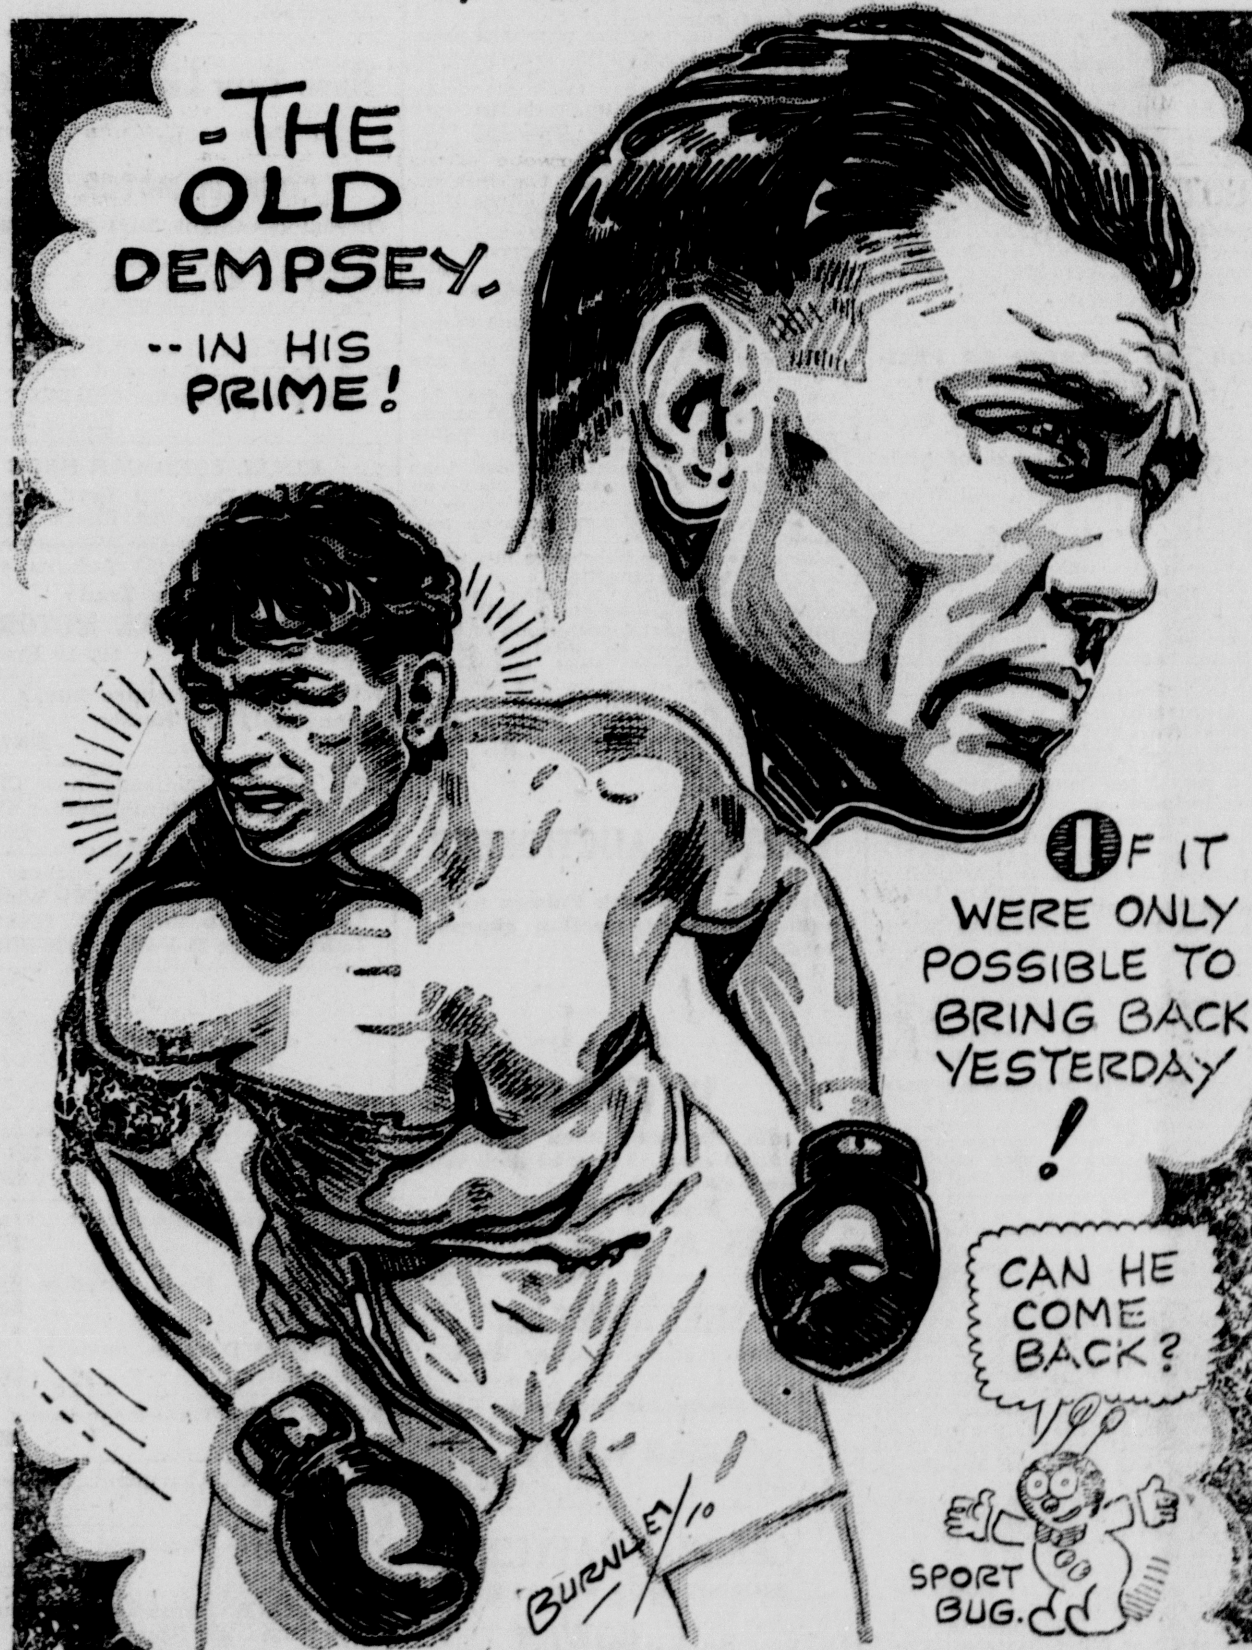

William "Sailor" Friedman, former light weight boxer who owns the dog, arranged it. He "kidnaped" his pet from the Anti-Cruelty Society pound where Skippy was under observation for rabies.

"They weren't feeding him," Friedman declared in court, "and an attendant told me they often killed four or five dogs a day there. I wanted Skippy to have a fair chance."

Judge Casey sympathized and said a visit to a veterinarian would do. Comedian Joe Cook gave Skippy to Friedman.

Ol' Champ's Resurrection

By HARDIN BURNLEY

© 1931, King Features Syndicate, Inc., Great Britain rights reserved.

THAT Jack Dempsey could lick all the current crop of headline heavies (Sharkey, Schaaf, Loughran, Carnera, et al) in one night is the firmly vociferous conviction of the average sport bug. The most picturesque of modern punchers seems to have even a more popular appeal than John L. Sullivan and Jim Jeffries did before their respective Corbett and Johnson anticlimaxes. Fight fandom, almost to a man, has been rooting for the old Manassa Mauler ever since he began his comeback efforts with a tour of the hinterlands which began early last month.

Dempsey began bumpin' 'em off at Reno, two and three a night, and drew capacity wherever his historic assaults sent handonny heavies bounding off the resined canvas. At Portland, Ore., almost 18,000 crammed the hall to see historic "Iron Mike" do its quick K. O. stuff.

The erstwhile "Man Killer" looks to be in remarkably good shape considering his long layoff and his 35 years. At this writing, his weight is reported as being 199 pounds and his punch seems to be stiff indeed. Of course, Dempsey's trial bouts are limited to four rounds when his opponents manage to stay up. In brief action his speed is surprising. Perhaps he can whip himself into sufficient condition to go five or six rounds at close to old-time fighting form. If he can, Jack may astound skeptics who question the wisdom of his comeback campaign.

Even if this popular idol doesn't manage to get another championship go, he probably will make even more than Primo Carnera did when touring the nation through 1929. If the green Italian giant could produce "a wrestling thrill" pushing 'em over, why can't the modern Symbol of Sock pack 'em in on a bigger scale?

Why rumor persists that Gene Tunney will doff his millionaire habiliments to shie his casket again into title lists! The Scholar and the Mauler are natural, favorable rivals. Dempsey fought to a draw at Philadelphia and to go to the ring corner until 14 seconds had elapsed at Chicago. These momentous omissions may be offset when, and if those ex-champs ever clash in a third tilt. It's a heart-stirring hope for the average sport bug, anyway, this Dempsey tour!

"MAKE-BELIEVE" by FAITH BALDWIN

Copyright, 1930, by Faith Baldwin

Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Travers Lorrimer, shell-shocked son of wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, mistakes Mary Lou Thurston, beautiful orphan, for Delight Harford, whom he claims he married in England during the war. At Mrs. Lorrimer's request, Mary Lou assumes the role of Delight. Complications arise when, after months of happy companionship, Travers insists upon knowing if Mary Lou loves him. She realizes she cannot go on acting, for she has grown to care. At the crucial moment, Larry Mitchell, Mary Lou's newspaper reporter friend, locates the real Delight acting in a revue. Mrs. Lorrimer, favoring Mary Lou, hopes that Delight is not Travers' wife and that she will return to England.

CHAPTER XLIII.

SHE rose to her feet and stood there a moment looking down at Mary Lou.

"Go to bed, dear," she said gently. "You're a very wonderful little person. But if I make up my mind to see this thing through, I'll fight you, too. You see, I think only of Travers, not of right or wrong, or choice or claims."

"But you can't make decisions for him according to your way of thinking," said Mary Lou, rising, "as you used to when he was a little boy."

Victim of Circumstances

She put her arms around Mary Lou.

"I'll do nothing yet," she promised, "and I can count on your word that, whatever I do, you will say nothing to Travers?"

"Of course," said Mary Lou.

That was one of the agreements of her strange entrance into this house. She had promised to yield to circumstances, to adapt herself blindly. Whatever Margaret Lorrimer did, Mary would not speak the word to Lorrimer which would crash all her plans, unmake her decisions. But further than that Mary Lou would not be involved. When the time came for Mrs. Lorrimer to work out her strategies in action, Mary Lou would no longer be at Westwood House. Of that Mary Lou was fully aware.

When they had kissed, holding each other close a moment, loving each other very much for all their differing opinions, and Mary Lou had been left alone, she undressed and went to bed, and stared at the windows until the sun flung its first golden arrows into the room and the birds began to sing in the budding trees.

She had promised to say nothing to Travers, because of the terms of her agreement with his mother. Her promise seemed to her, now, away from the persuasive personality of the older woman, a feeble and dishonest thing. She, too, as much as Margaret—more, even, she thought—was concerned with Lorrimer's happiness. By what right did his mother set herself up to judge where that happiness lay? It might—and at the thought her heart twisted so in her breast that she almost cried out—it might lie with this other woman, who lived not so many miles away, unknown, unconscious of the clever, white hands which presumed to "dispose" of her and remake her destiny.

And if this happiness lay with Delight Harford, by what right, by what chance, mistaken reasoning, did his mother withhold it?

Mary Lou was torn between two loyalties—her loyalty to Margaret Lorrimer, her love for him. There was really, after all, little doubt which she would choose, which, since it had to be, must go overboard.

After all, no matter how shrewd the scheming, things would go wrong. They always did. Truth has a way of appearing when least expected and least desired. Mary Lou had no very clear idea of what Mrs. Lorrimer planned to do, save that she hoped that Larry Mitchell might find out the truth from Delight without her knowing the real reason, and then, whatever that truth, that she had planned to see Delight safely out of the country, still ignorant of circumstances; or if she learned them by chance, she would be offered money, bought off, gotten rid of.

"No!" said Mary Lou.

Black was black and white was white. Mary Lou was very young. She knew very little about shades of gray, which lie in between. She could, in a measure, understand something of Mrs. Lorrimer's maternal savagery in defending her son, as she thought, from unhappiness. But she couldn't understand wholly, not at her age. And she was at the age, moreover, which feels that important decisions affecting human lives should be made by those lives themselves, not by the intervention of parents, no matter how wise, how dear. Lorrimer was not a child. He was not, even, the boy who had gone blithely to France, to find love and adventure, pain and disaster there. He was a grown man, an adult, fully capable of making his own decisions.

The Right to Decide

And Delight? Surely she too had a right. She was as much concerned in this as the rest of them. As Lorrimer's wife, perhaps, who had thought herself his widow. Perhaps she had remarried? Why hadn't that occurred to Mrs. Lorrimer? It was quite possible that she had done so. She should be given an opportunity, if that were the case, to legalize that marriage, made in all good faith. Or if she hadn't married, if her heart still remembered Lorrimer, she should be given the opportunity to say it, between Lorrimer and Delight Harford.

If, somehow, she could go away knowing that things had been cleared up between them; that, for better or worse, they had met, had come to some understanding, she would go away, if not happier, at least more content with the role she had played.

Happiness Above All

Before she slept, in that golden dawn, she had made up her mind to go to New York and see Delight Harford for herself, to tell her the truth, to put it up to her, to leave it in her hands. Mrs. Lorrimer would cast her out; that she was convinced of; but even that didn't matter. Nothing mattered but Lorrimer and his happiness and the ultimate reaching of the truth, the eventual, absolute honesty which must prevail between all of them in this situation, were anything good to come out of chaos.

Two days later Mary Lou went to New York—alone.

On the train out of Westmill Mary Lou sat looking blindly out of the window, her heart a small, human battle field. At each stop

GRAND JURY TO HEAR BRAINERD FIREBUG STORY

Fire Marshal to Ask Indictment at November Session; Quince Fire Investigated

Incriminating evidence pointing to arson will be presented to a Crow Wing county grand jury meeting in November here and an indictment on incendiary charges will be asked by County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, it was reported in Brainerd today by Geo. G. Magnuson, Deputy State Fire Marshal, who has been investigating a fire at 1310 Quince street which was not reported officially.

Local Officers Ask Investigation Magnuson stated that the fire was investigated when insurance claim agents protested a $125 fire loss at the residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Greenlaw. The fire marshal was aided in his investigation by Fire Chief Frank Fuller and police officials.

The fire in the home occurred during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Greenlaw and their children last weekend when they visited the George Haug place south of Pillager, Magnuson said.

"The Greenlaws went to the Haug place Friday night and remained there Saturday and Sunday. When they returned they discovered the mattress in the southeast corner of a bedroom burned and a hole burned in the north wall 12 feet from the bed," Magnuson stated.

Structure Insured for $1,600 I believe we have evidence to indicate that the fire was started in the two places. There was no fire in the stove, the wiring appeared in good for the fire. The dense smoke and the shape, there was no electrical storm nor could we find any natural cause lack of a draft prevented the fire from spreading and the fire was not detected or reported to the fire department. Insurance claim agents were notified of the damage and they in turn reported their suspicions to us. The building is insured for $1,600, the furniture for $1,500 and other contents for $700," Magnuson said.

The marshal further reported that evidence tended to show that, during the fire the doors and windows were securely locked and the curtains were drawn.

The building is owned by Mrs. Christ Olson, Greenlaw, the occupant, is an employee of the N. P. shops here.

"Pull" Superior to "Push"

Scientists have established that it is easier to pull than to push. The flexing or bending muscles of our arms are more powerful than the extending or straightening muscles. A test with bars proved that the "pull" stroke was nearly twice as effective as a "push" stroke.

Torch as a Symbol

In art the torch is an emblem of marriage, from the Roman custom of holding wedding processions by torchlight. An erect torch symbolizes joy; an inverted torch is the emblem of death.

Burial Customs

Cremation of the dead was the general practice of the ancient world with the important exceptions of Egypt, where they were buried in sepulchers, and China, where they were buried in the earth.

"MAKE-BELIEVE" by FAITH BALDWIN

Travers Lorrimer, shell-shocked son of wealthy Margaret Lorrimer, mistakes Mary Lou Thurston, beautiful orphan, for Delight Harford, whom he claims he married in England during the war. At Mrs. Lorrimer's request, Mary Lou assumes the role of Delight. Complications arise when, after months of happy companionship, Travers insists upon knowing if Mary Lou loves him. She realizes she cannot go on acting, for she has grown to care. At the crucial moment, Larry Mitchell, Mary Lou's newspaper reporter friend, locates the real Delight acting in a revue. Mrs. Lorrimer, favoring Mary Lou, hopes that Delight is not Travers' wife and that she will return to England.

CHAPTER XLIII.

SHE rose to her feet and stood there a moment looking down at Mary Lou.

"Go to bed, dear," she said gently. "You're a very wonderful little person. But if I make up my mind to see this thing through, I'll fight you, too. You see, I think only of Travers, not of right or wrong, or choice or claims."

"But you can't make decisions for him according to your way of thinking," said Mary Lou, rising, "as you used to when he was a little boy."

"Perhaps I can't—or shouldn't. And yet, I shall," Mrs. Lorrimer answered.

Victim of Circumstances

She put her arms around Mary Lou. "I'll do nothing yet," she promised, "and I can count on your word that, whatever I do, you will say nothing to Travers."

"Of course," said Mary Lou.

That was one of the agreements of her strange entrance into this house. She had promised to yield to circumstances, to adapt herself blindly. Whatever Margaret Lorrimer did, Mary would not speak the word to Lorrimer which would crash all her plans, unmake her decisions. But further than that Mary Lou would not be involved. When the time came for Mrs. Lorrimer to work out her strategies in action, Mary Lou would no longer be at Westwood House. Of that Mary Lou was fully aware.

When they had kissed, holding each other close a moment, loving each other very much for all their differing opinions, and Mary Lou had been left alone, she undressed and went to bed, and stared at the windows until the sun flung its first golden arrows into the room and the birds began to sing in the budding trees.

She had promised to say nothing to Travers, because of the terms of her agreement with his mother. Her promise seemed to her, now, away from the persuasive personality of the older woman, a feeble and dishonest thing. She, too, as much as Margaret—more, even, she thought—was concerned with Lorrimer's happiness. By what right did his mother set herself up to judge where that happiness lay? It might—and at the thought her heart twisted so in her breast that she almost cried out—it might lie with this other woman, who lived not so many miles away, unknown, unconscious of the clever, white hands which presumed to "dispose" of her and remake her destiny.

And if this happiness lay with Delight Harford, by what right, by whose chance, mistaken reasoning, should his mother withhold it from him?

Mary Lou was torn between two loyalties—her loyalty to Margaret Lorrimer, her loyalty to Lorrimer and her love for him. There was really, after all, little doubt which she would choose, which, since it had to be, must go overboard.

After all, no matter how shrewd the scheming, things would go wrong. They always did. Truth has a way of appearing when least expected and least desired. Mary Lou had no very clear idea of what Mrs. Lorrimer planned to do, save that she hoped that Larry Mitchell might find out the truth from Delight without her knowing the real reason, and then, whatever that truth, that she had planned to see Delight safely out of the country, still ignorant of circumstances, or if she learned them by chance, she would be offered money, bought off, gotten rid of.

"No!" said Mary Lou. Black was black and white was white. Mary Lou was very young. She knew very little about shades of gray, which lie in between. She could, in a measure, understand something of Mrs. Lorrimer's maternal savagery in defending her saw it, between Lorrimer and Delight Harford.

If, somehow, she could go away knowing that things had been cleared up between them; that, for better or worse, they had met, had come to some understanding, she would go away, if not happier, at least more content with the role she had played.

Happiness Above All

Before she slept, in that golden dawn, she had made up her mind to go to New York and see Delight Harford for herself, to tell her the truth, to put it up to her, to leave it in her hands. Mrs. Lorrimer would cast her out; that she was convinced of; but even that didn't matter. Nothing mattered but Lorrimer and his happiness and the ultimate reaching of the truth, the eventual, absolute honesty which must prevail between all of them in this situation, were anything good to come out of chaos.

Two days later Mary Lou went to New York—alone.

On the train out of Westmill Mary Lou sat looking blindly out of the window, her heart a small, human battle field. At each stop son, as she thought, from unhappiness. But she couldn't understand wholly, not at her age. And she was at the age, moreover, which feels that important decisions affecting human lives should be made by those lives themselves, not by the intervention of parents, no matter how wise, how dear. Lorrimer was not a child. He was not, even, the boy who had gone blithely to France, to find love and adventure, pain and disaster there. He was a grown man, an adult, fully capable of making his own decisions.

Mary Lou was torn between her loyalty to Margaret Lorrimer and her loyalty to Travers.

The Right to Decide

And Delight? Surely she too had a right. She was as much concerned in this as the rest of them. As Lorrimer's wife, perhaps, who had thought herself his widow. Perhaps she had remarried? Why hadn't that occurred to Mrs. Lorrimer? It was quite possible that she had done so. She should be given an opportunity, if that were the case, to legalize that marriage, made in all good faith. Or if she hadn't married, if her heart still remembered Lorrimer, she should be given the opportunity to make the decision.

When Larry had told her about meeting Delight Harford he had happened to mention the address at which she lived, or, rather, the name of the hotel. At Grand Central, Mary Lou went into a telephone booth and looked up the number. She called the number, asked for Miss Harford, was greeted by blank ignorance on the part of the hotel telephone girl, and then, remembering, asked for Miss Hackett—Diana Hackett.

She stood there in the stuffy booth with the distant noises of trains pulling out and in, in her ears, with people hurrying by, with the clatter of the subway turnstiles not far off, and waited for Diana to answer. The palms of her hands were wet and cold. She was

Fire Marshal to Ask Indictment at November Session; Quince Fire Investigated

Incriminating evidence pointing to arson will be presented to a Crow Wing county grand jury meeting in November here and an indictment on incendiary charges will be asked by County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, it was reported by Brainerd today by Geo. G. Magnuson, Deputy State Fire Marshal, who has been investigating a fire at 1310 Quince street which was not reported to officials.

Local Officers Aid Investigation. Magnuson stated that the fire was investigated when insurance claim agents protested a $125 fire loss at the residence occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Murray Greenlaw. The fire marshal was aided in his investigation by Fire Chief Frank Fuller and police officials.

The fire in the home occurred during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Greenlaw and their children last weekend when they visited the George Harg place south of Brainerd, Magnuson said. "The Greenlaws went to the Harg place Friday night and remained there Saturday and Sunday. When they returned they discovered the mattress in the southeast corner of a bedroom burned and a hole burned in the north wall 12 feet from the bed," Magnuson stated.

Structure Insured for $1,600. "I believe we have evidence to indicate that the fire was started in the two places. There was no fire in the stove, the wiring appeared in good for the fire. The dense smoke and the shape, there was no electrical storm nor could we find any natural cause lack of a draft prevented the fire from spreading and the fire was not detected or reported to the fire department. Insurance claim agents were notified of the damage and they in turn reported their suspicions to us. The building is insured for $1,600, the furniture for $1,500 and other contents for $700," Magnuson said.

The marshal further reported that evidence tended to show that, during the fire the doors and windows were securely locked and the curtains were drawn.

The building is owned by Mrs. Christ Olson, Greenlaw, the occupant, is an employee of the N. P. shops here.
